Yorkton Man On Wild Dash Shoots 2: Wounds Self

YORKTON, Sask., March 21.—A farmer went wild with a revolver in the Greek Catholic mission here today, killing one priest, seriously wounding another and then, facing capture by police, turned the weapon upon his own breast.

The dead:
FATHER DELFORGE.
The wounded:
Father Bala;
Steve Elash.

Both Father Bala and Elash, who police state did the shooting, are near death in the local hospital.

According to the police story, Elash, a farmer of the district, entered the Ruthenian mission about 9:45 this morning and asked for a priest. Father Delforge appeared and was instantly killed by a shot in the back of the skull.

SHOOTS FATHER BALA

Elash then apparently went upstairs and met Father Bala, whom he also shot.

Police were summoned and racing towards the mission met Elash running towards them waving a revolver.

Police stopped their car and Elash fired point blank at Chief of Police H. L. Fenson and Constable Wilf Hatch, and then jumped behind a nearby home.

As police crowded in on the apparently crazed farmer Elash fired a shot into his own breast and fell writhing to the ground.

THROUGH GLASS DOOR

Police state that as they rushed up to him Elash shouted he had killed two priests at the Ruthenian mission and that he had killed his son four years ago.

From the mission it was learned that after the shooting Elash ran headlong through a glass door at the end of the entrance hall, not stopping to open it. His wild dash led him towards the business centre of Yorkton.

FROM UKRAINE

Father Bala is the brother of Father Joseph Bala of Windsor, Ont., and formerly of Saskatoon and Montreal. Father Joseph served the Greek Catholic community in Saskatoon for several years and left in 1931 to go to Montreal whence he was subsequently moved to Windsor. The wounded priest, Father John, came from the Ukraine several years ago. He also was well known in Saskatoon and served two years at Ituna.

Father Delforge, a Belgian priest, also served his church in Saskatoon some time ago. He left five years ago to return to Belgium and it was not known to local clergy that he had come out to Canada again.

BOY WHO SHOT MOTHER READ CRIME STORIES

Jury Names Benjamin McConnell, 12, Matricide—Held at Calgary

OLDS, March 21.—A coroner's jury here Wednesday blamed 12-year-old Benjamin McConnell for the shooting of his mother, Mrs. A. J. McConnell, who was found shot at her home, 33 miles west of here, Monday. The boy has been taken to the Salvation Army home in Calgary where he will be held pending further action by the crown.

The boy was hard to control and was an inveterate reader of "wild west" stories of crime and adventure, his father testified while a hush settled over the crowded court room. The fact that the boy had been reprimanded for running away and not attending school might have had something to do with his action, the father believed.

The public was excluded while the boy testified under the protection of the Canada Evidence Act. He did not appear to realize the enormity of his action.

The jury's verdict was "that Mrs. A. J. McConnell came to her death by a gunshot wound, the shot fired from a .303 British rifle in the hands of her son, Benjamin, 12 years old." Nine witnesses were examined by Sergeant H. N. Trickey, R.C.M.P., Calgary.

Profiteers Not All In War Work

VICTORIA, March 21—In the opinion of Ernest Bakewell (C.C.F.-MacKenzie) the druggist of 20 years ago who could make pills with pestle and mortar in the back shop, is gone.

"Prescriptions are filled by mixing a number of liquids in a bottle and charging exorbitant sums just because the poor public can't decipher the dog latin on the white slip of paper," he said, speaking in the British Columbia legislature last night during discussion of the Pharmacy Act.

"Years ago I worked in a drugstore, but I left it for an honest job," Mr. Bakewell continued. "I remember filling a prescription costing five cents and selling it for $1.50. It contained two ounces of eastern syrup and eight ounces of water, even then there was collusion between medical men and druggists."

Referring to various preparations sold for as much as 2,600 times as much as their cost, he said, "all these frauds are manufactured in Eastern Canada and the United States."

R. P. Burns (Lib.-Rossland-Trail) who described himself as a druggist of 35 years' experience, said it would be a good thing if 90 percent of patent medicines were taken off the market.

CHINA FLOATS A $100,000,000 RELIEF LOAN

TWO KILLED AS TRAIN CRASHES

ST. JEAN, Man., March 21—Two persons were killed and two others critically injured just before midnight last night when an automobile struck a Northern Pacific Railway train one mile south of here at a level crossing.

Andrew Robertson, Winnipeg, driver of the car, and James Gardener, six years old, were killed. James Gardener, Sr., Winnipeg, and his daughter, Muriel, 10, were critically injured. All four were occupants of the car.

The collision occurred during a snowstorm.

St. Jean is 40 miles south of Winnipeg.

British Writer To Defend Self As Communist

CHICAGO, March 21.—Evelyn John St. Loe Strachey, British writer and lecturer, came back to Chicago again today to defend himself against deportation as a dangerous radical.

Strachey stepped off a train from Toledo, after plane trouble had forced him down on a flight from New York. Arthur Garfield Hayes, New York attorney who helped defend the famous Scopes "Monkey Case" in Tennessee, was with him.

They went into seclusion in a downtown hotel, conferring with local attorneys on how Strachey will answer the deportation charge.

Leduc Liberal Calls Attack On Howson Dirtiest Thing Heard

Hurling a defi at George MacLachlan, U.F.A., Pembina to either prove or withdraw a verbal attack he had made upon W. R. Howson, K.C., provincial Liberal leader and describing that attack as "the dirtiest thing ever said in this house," A. P. Mitchell, Liberal, Leduc, in speaking in the budget debate in the legislature on Wednesday invited Mr. MacLachlan to repeat his statements outside the house. This virtual challenge to engaging in fisticuffs plunged the house into a tense atmosphere of excitement.

"I tell you I am not going to take that from any man and I'd like you to say that outside the house," declared Mr. Mitchell in ringing tones.

Declaring himself to be a very peaceful man under normal conditions, Mr. Mitchell said he was roused to fighting pitch by such statements and invited Mr. MacLachlan to say the same things outside the house.

At this point Mr. Speaker Intervened, ruling Mr. Mitchell out of

ALL PROVINCES PAY HONOR TO LIBERAL CHIEF

By THOS. WAYLING
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, March 21.—Liberalism in Canada today faces its greatest opportunity of all time, the two-fold opportunity of dealing with the great social problems affecting human well-being and human welfare and the great problem of world peace, so a great Liberal rally was told last night by Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal Party in Canada.

Liberal statesmen, Liberal apostles, Liberal disciples, thronged to Ottawa from the Maritime provinces, the central provinces, the West and the Pacific coast to join in a pledge of loyalty and support to the National Liberal leader. They brought messages of fealty from Liberalism throughout Canada and presented Mr. King with an illuminated address, a silver loving cup and two flanking flagons to mark their personal esteem.

"I have tried to follow faithfully and sincerely the traditions Laurier laid down in matters of government," said Mr. King. "I have tried to do what Laurier was constantly doing, following a policy of moderation and conciliation. Moderation and toleration were Laurier's watchwords."

One could get nowhere by the

CASE OF CORA M'PHERSON TO BE HEARD SOON

Privy Council to Hear Appeal During Easter Sittings

Appeal of Cora Lillian McPherson against the judgments of Alberta courts dismissing her suit to have a divorce secured by her former husband, O. L. McPherson, former minister of public works and sitting member for Little Bow, set aside on the grounds that the hearing was not held in open court will go before the Privy Council at the Easter sittings. This was learned Thursday by the Bulletin following receipt of a letter from London barristers by G. H. Van Allen, K.C., counsel for Mrs. McPherson.

Leave to appeal to the privy council was granted on March 1, 1934 at the last spring sitting of that tribunal.

The letter is from the London legal firm of Lawrence Jones and Company, agents in the case for Mr. Van Allen, and it states that Wilfred Green, K.C., eminent English counsel, will argue the appeal on behalf of the former wife of the ex-minister of public works. He will be assisted by Horace Douglas.

As Easter falls on April 21 this year the hearing will take place some time in the last week of the month.

LEAGUE FACES WORST CRISIS

GENEVA, March 21.—The League of Nations faces the gravest crisis in its history today, in the opinion of many observers, as a result of France's protest against Germany's rearmament declaration.

The French protest against Germany's rearmament as a violation of the Versailles Treaty was received this morning.

Diplomatic circles meanwhile saw a broad hint that Germany may demand "rectification" of her frontiers in an article in the semi-official German organ "Volkebund" published here.

Volkebund, the organ of the German association for league questions, called the Versailles Treaty "a product of hatred and war psychosis."

Teacher Paycuts Keep Regina's Schools Running

REGINA, March 21. — Seven thousand Regina schools kids lost a chance for two more weeks holidays this coming summer when the school board decided to close the schools at the usual time instead of two weeks earlier in June in order to save $13,000 expenses. School teachers had a salary readjustment, a few getting a slight increase and others decreases from three to 29 per cent. to most of them, in order to keep the mill rate down.

NO MOVE TO PROLONG LIFE LEGISLATURE

While the law permits the government, under certain circumstances, to prolong the life of the legislature, there has been no suggestion as yet of prolonging the life of this, the seventh legislature of Alberta, declared Hon. J. F. Lymburn, K.C., attorney-general, on Thursday.

When the rumor began to circulate a week ago that the government contemplated extending the life of the house, Premier R. G. Reid declared that it was the "first I have heard of it."

Despite the official denials, however, the talk of an attempt to form a coalition government and prolonging the life of the legislature is still heard in the legislative corridors.

AUSTRIA TAKES MILITARY STEP

Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press

VIENNA, March 21—Austria took another step toward military preparedness today by tightening and strengthening laws governing the commandeering of private vehicles and civilian skill for military purposes in peace time.

The new laws authorize military commanders to requisition automobiles, airplanes, motorcycles, horse-drawn vehicles and steamboats as well as the services of civilians who may be operating or servicing them.

The historically famous Arabian steeds belonging to Vienna's celebrated Spanish riding academy are exempted from such forced services.

Officials said his resistance to the powerful electric current was extremely unusual.

MAYORS' MEET GIVEN THREAT

OTTAWA, March 21. — When mayors of Canadian cities meet in Montreal next Monday they will be faced with opposition from labor minister Wesley Gordon in their fight to induce the Dominion to relieve them of direct relief costs.

Game Warden Claims Dismissal Effected For Enforcement Of Laws

Charges made by Donald MacLeod, U.F.A. member of the legislature for Stony Plain, that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police are not enforcing the Game Act have aroused mixed feelings of amusement and resentment among the guides of Jasper and vicinity. Their amazement at the attack by the U.F.A. member is because they believe him to be the same Donald MacLeod who was reported for Sunday deer shooting by a game warden two years ago.

At the time the member is reported to have told the warden to "forget it" or he would be "getting nervous about his job." The warden, carrying out his duty, refused to "forget it" and reported the matter. The case was never tried and the warden was not given an opportunity of "getting nervous about his job." He lost it altogether.

PROTEST NOTES TO GO WITHOUT NAZI APPROVAL

By The Canadian Press

The international arms situation took another sharp turn today when the German foreign minister declined to entertain strong notes of protest from the French and Italian governments. Baron Konstantin Von Neurath received the notes from the French and Italian ambassadors, but said they disregarded the real facts of the situation and therefore could not be entertained.

In France this was taken to mean the German replies would be nothing more than acknowledgement, but the official German news bureau said the replies would take the form of counter-protests.

Other developments:

London—The tone of the French appeal for League of Nations examination of German rearmament was taken to imply that guarantees may now be asked from Germany before her return to the League, if she is willing to return. Naval matters will be among the questions taken up in the Anglo-German talks in Berlin.

Paris—French notes to Geneva and Berlin accused the Reich government of violating international treaties, and raised "the most formal protest."

Rome—The Italian protest to Berlin declared the Italian government "cannot accept a situation determined by a unilateral decision annuling obligations of international character."

Moscow—Foreign quarters said they believed the full support of the Soviet would be given the French in raising the question in the League of Nations.

Vatican City—The Pope is preparing an allocation on the world arms situation which will probably be read on April 1, and is also preparing an encyclical in which he will again plead for peace and disarmament.

BELGIUM STILL MINUS CABINET

BRUSSELS, March 21—Belgium remained without a cabinet Wednesday as King Leopold, for the first time in the country's parliamentary history, conferred with representatives of trade bodies as well as politicians in an effort to replace the government of Georges Theunis.

Premier Theunis and his cabinet resigned Tuesday amid controversy over maintenance of the gold standard.

Political observers hailed the king's precedent as an indication a new orientation in Belgian politics is likely to be reflected in the new cabinet.

Dry U.S. Spring Prophets Wager

SIR JOHN HAS FRANK SPEECH FOR GERMANY

Hitler Announcement Comes as Profound Shock to World

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 21.—Foreign secretary Sir John Simon had some plain and frank words for Germany this afternon as he spoke during debate on German rearmament and the international situation.

He spoke of the profound shock which Germany's abrupt announcement of conscription had created throughout Britain.

"It had inevitably provoked protests from the British, French and Italian governments alike," he said.

"The real point of the difficulty is this," he added. "The object of the intended Berlin discussion was to promote adjustment by agreement. But the German announcement was the very reverse. It was an adjustment by a unilateral pronouncement."

He continued, "A unilateral denuciation, whatever the explanation may be, inevitably raises the question of the value of agreements and that is a very bad preparation for future agreements. I am sure

TROOPS DEFEND RIVER LEVEES

GREENWOOD, Miss., March 21.—State troops shouldered guns on North Mississippi levees near here today as an aftermath of a wild night in which two dykes were blasted and private guards and vandals threatened to meet in open battle.

When officers heard the vandals were planning a wholesale dynamiting of leeves, private guards were given machine and riot guns and told to "shoot to kill" in the event of an attack.

Thomas Says War Fear Unjustified

DERBY, England, March 21.—J. H. Thomas, dominions secretary, said in an address here last night he believed fears of war were not justified.

Saying he welcomed the apprehension which has been shown "because it indicated quite clearly ours is a peace-loving nation," Thomas said:

"I understand that apprehension" but "I see no warrant whatever in the foreign situation and the political situation or believing there is any real danger of war."

ROOSEVELT PRESCRIBES FOR EUROPE

BOARD GRANTS AINLAY LEAVE

The school board will give Ald. H. D. Ainlay leave from his teaching duties to fill the mayor's chair, during the mayor's absence in Montreal, only if the city council can make no other arrangements, it was decided at a management committee meeting Thursday forenoon. The committee was vested with power to act, at the last board meeting.

Opening the consideration of Mr. Ainlay's request for leave, Dr. W. Morrish, trustee, said, "Is it good politics?"

"There are no politics in this," Trustee S. A. G. Barnes, committee chairman, quickly replied. He and Ald. Ainlay are both Labor men.

"Mr. Ainlay says he will take adequate provision for his work, if he is told who the substitute will be. I don't think the children will suffer so much," Dr. Morrish said.

After a little discussion Mr. Casselman moved "That we grant this request provided the council cannot make other arrangements that will obviate the necessity of Ald. Ainlay acting in this capacity."

He moved that this decison be forwarded to a special meeting of council Thursday night with a letter stating that the trustees felt other arrangements should be made in a case of this kind, where the pupils will be affected.

"That puts it up to council," Mr. Casselman commented.

Wetaskiwin Is Almost Isolated

WETASKIWIN, March 21.—Belated assault of King Winter's icy legions has left this town virtually isolated, the railway being the only means of egress and ingress with outside points.

Snowplows are in service on all main highways and side roads leading to and from the town, clearing drifts piled up by the March gale, and it is hoped to re-establish normal transportation service by Thursday afternoon.

Nominating convention of the U. F. A. has been postponed for two weeks because of the weather conditions, when A. P. Moan, Tofield, will join the contestants.

Wetaskiwin girls' hockey team were on the road eight hours returning from Red Deer.

During the height of the blizzard Constable Crouch, R. C. M. P., had to commandeer a team to pull his car through the snow, but one of the horses, belonging to Hank Shaler, died, and the car had to be abandoned, the car being towed in later.

Mail service on all rural routes had to be suspended.

It is hoped that Premier Read will be able to attend the adjourned U. F. A. Convention.

Extradition Halted

CONCORD, N.H., March 21.—Extradition of Captain Freeman Hatfield, accused by the Canadian government of defrauding it of $71,000 in war reparations, was further delayed today when Judge Thomas F. Morris of the United States district court granted Hatfield's counsel writs of certiorari and habeas corpus.

CLIMATE OF ALBERTA SUITS JUDGE TWEEDIE

Alberta sunshine and the climate of Alberta in general suits Mr. Justice Tweedie of the Alberta Supreme Court right down to the ground, he informed a Bulletin reporter Thursday on his return to the bench at the local courthouse after an absence of six months at Ottawa, where he successfully argued the case for this province for the return of alienated lands and property.

His Lordship did not thrive on the damp, foggy weather that prevailed at the Dominion capital for most of the winter, he stated.

"I don't care how cold it was out here. I would sooner have had that than the weather at Ottawa. This is the finest climate in the world," he concluded.

Police Officer's House Is Robbed

When a citizen's house is robbed, the police department goes through the usual routine of an investigation which often has results, but when an officer of the department complains of theft it must cause some embarrassment to the force.

H. S. Reynolds, finger print, and hand writing expert of the department reported that one of his houses at 10740 126 street, unoccupied at the present time was broken into Wednesday night and tools and 606 square feet of oilcloth stolen. In addition, the thieves made off with all the electric light bulbs.

Subventions On Coal Totalled

OTTAWA, March 21.—Since 1928 Canada has paid $6,781,176 in subventions and other forms of assistance to aid the coal industry in the maritime provinces and Alberta, a return tabled Wednesday in the House of Commons said. Of that amount $4,457,992 went to the Maritimes and $1,859,958 to Alberta.

From 1931 to the present the amount of bonus paid on wheat was $12,708,576. The outlay in the year 1931-1932 when the five-cents-a-bushel bonus was in effect was $10,908,428.

Italy Imports Argentine Wheat

Aged Spartan Woman In Lone Duel With Death

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., March 21. — Strange silence which had hovered around a lonely little farm home, Wednesday led to revelation of the fortitude of 82-year-old Mrs. Joseph Snelgrove, dying from want of food and water and suffering from a broken hip. She was rushed from Smith township to Nicholls hospital but little hope was held for her life.

The tragedy was discovered when a neighbor's girl went to investigate why no smoke was seen coming from the chimney last night. The old lady had not been seen around the house in which she lived alone since March 11.

There was no answer as the little girl knocked on the door but she heard a faint response from within. Entering, she found Mrs. Snelgrove lying helpless on her bed. The girl reported what she had found and Dr. H. I. Moore of Lakefield was summoned. Still conscious the aged woman recited her story.

Stepping out of the door of the farm house on Tuesday of last week, she slipped on the ice and fell, fracturing her hip while trying to shake some floor mats. She managed to pull herself into the house and to the bed. She had been helpless since, unable to get food or water.

GAME WARDEN SAYS JOB LOST ENFORCING LAW

March 14, 1935. I 'along with many others have been reading what Donald MacLeod has to say about the R. C. M. P. force. The fact that he attacks the force with not enforcing the Game Act is the part that especially interests myself.

It looks like a case of "biting the hand that feeds one"? Does the member from Stony Plain forget that he himself was reported by a game warden for Sunday deer hunting only a short two years ago? More than that, has he not hit the nail on the head when he says that the law is not enforced, as Mr. MacLeod was never tried for his offence, and the game warden was dismissed from his post?

At the time Mr. MacLeod was accosted by the game warden, did not he, Mr. MacLeod, advise the game warden to "forget it" or that he would be "getting nervous about his job." However he was reported and the warden was "let out" and many attempts have been made to get a hearing for this warden, but all to no avail.

The Guides Association of Jasper have made many inquiries; also Chris Pattinson, M.L.A., of Edson, brought the matter up on the floor of the House in March, 1934, and got no satisfaction.

When a man gets the protection that Mr. MacLeod has undoubtedly got from someone somewhere, "how come" this turn of the tide?

We had a case here only last week where a boy shot a deer out of season and he was fined, even though he was one of a family of twelve children with father and mother, the father being a clerk in a store. I am not saying that he should not have been fined, but I do say why should one of our worthy members of the provincial parliament not even have his case tried, and the needy be fined?

Yours truly,
The Warden who reported Mr. Donald MacLeod, M.L.A., (ALLAN McCONNOCHIE).

SALLY OF COURT GETS BIG LAUGH

Trembling Hands and "Glasses" Invoke Mirth In Fraud Trial

Trembling fingers have different interpretations and "every little movement has a meaning of its own." At any rate a judicial ruling to this effect was handed down by Mr. Justice Ford on the matter in supreme criminal court Wednesday during the trial of Steve Leskiw, former secretary of Vilna municipality on a conversion

When Joseph Kuasnysia, alleged victim of an insurance premium fraud, was in the witness box, H. A. Mackie, K.C., defence counsel, suggested that witness be given a glass of water and be seated as he had been on the stand for a long time. Witness a man of 57, was handed the glass and drained it slowly.

"My hand used to tremble when I held a glass, but that's in the past now," Mr. Mackie remarked.

"Yes, but possibly it was a different kind of glass," Mr. Justice Ford replied as spectators indulged in such hearty laughter that order had to be restored by Sheriff John Rae.

Leskiw is alleged to have accepted $56 for a $2,800 insurance policy premium on buildings belonging to Kuasnysia and failing to turn the money over to the London, Liverpool and Globe Insurance Company. The buildings were later destroyed by fire and Kuasnysia was later informed that there was no insurance policy taken out, he testified.

The case was not completed when court adjourned for the afternoon Thursday.

PROTEST SITE PACKING PLANT

Protesting the recommendation of the Town Planning Commission that a portion of the proposed site of Canada Packers, Ltd., in North Edmonton, be ruled a heavy industrial section so as to permit the plant to operate in the district, H. Harder, 12528 66 street, has forwarded a complaint to civic officials.

Mr. Harder states in his communication that he owns three lots and two houses which are one-half block from the proposed plant site and he contends the operation of a packing plant will depreciate the value of his property.

While part of the site on which Canada Packers desires to build its plant is already in the heavy industrial area, as provided by the zoning bylaw, a portion of it is the residential area. The Commission's recommendation was made with a view to removing this obstacle as far as the new industry is concerned.

Quadruplets Are Well But Mother Ailing

KINGSTON, Jamaica, March 21—Another part of the British Empire comes into the multiple birth spotlight with the arrival of quadruplets to Mrs. Ellen McCleary, a peasant woman of Jamaica. Falling just one short of Canada's famous Dionne quintuplets, the two boys and two girls were reported doing nicely Wednesday—their third day—but the mother is gravely ill.

Social Credit Going Strong

LOUGHEED, March 21.—At a meeting of the Social Credit group, last Saturday, H. A. McDonald, Theo. Hertel and R. Earlam were chosen delegates to the convention at Sedgewick, Saturday. E. Losness, R. GOOD NEIGHBOR POLICY TO SOLVE ACUTE PROBLEMS

White House Advice Has Echo as Congress Discusses Vast Defence Expense.

WASHINGTON, March 21. — A transatlantic extension of the United States "good neighbor policy" as the solution for Europe's acute military problems was projected Wednesday by President Roosevelt, while, on Capitol Hill, record-smashing national defence outlays totalling more than $1,500,000,000 were discussed.

Disarmament, the president told newspapermen, is a component part of his "neighbor" policy, and, despite the crisis resulting from Germany's announcement of a determination to rearm, he still held out hope for future arms limitation.

NAVAL PLANS AHEAD

Secretary of the navy Claude Swanson told newspapermen the navy was considering plans for building battleships after present limiting treaties expire and was not deviating from its program of laying down 78 smaller vessels by 1939.

The senate munitions committee, meanwhile, cheered by President Roosevelt's sympathy with its plan for conscripting both men and profits in war time, received testimony that the U.S. Steel Corporation piled up a surplus og $96,000,000 during the great war on a claim the money was needed for plant expansion.

MUM ON GERMANY

Mr. Roosevelt declined to say at the press conference whether a note to Germany was in contemplation or whether the United States would be represented by an observer at next Saturday's consultation between Britain, Italy and France.

Projected national defence outlay in various stages of legislative action included $400,000,000 contained in the regular war department appropriation bill; $477,000,000 proposed for the navy's expenditures next year by President Roosevelt; $405,000,000 asked by the army for modernization; some $180,000,000 for building new air bases, said to have army backing; $38,000,000 for improving naval Pacific shore stations, and $7,000,000 deficiency appropriation for the army.

Co-Eds Elect Woman-Hating "Stude" At U.

This business of "woman-hating" seems a profitable policy in politics.

Canada's leading statesmen, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King and Premier R. B. Bennett, are both bachelors. Contesting the presidency of the University of Alberta Students' Union, Ted Bishop, head man in the campus Woman-Haters' Club, stepped to bat with his avowed distaste for femininity in no manner diminished, despite the fact that more than one-third of student voting power is wielded by co-eds. He was elected!

"We are beginning to have a new type of public man," said Mr. King. "A type that thinks nothing of conciliation; is arbitrary and believes strength lies in force of might. The world has had that type from the beginning and they had never done anything enduring for mankind. The great work has been done by conciliators, the men who have conciliated differences and made people contented, united and happy. That can only be done by conciliation.

"I don't know if I have done much in that direction but I have tried to do so," continued Mr. King. The Liberal party had been disunited after the war. The Progressive movement had arisen.

If he had listened to those who counselled an attitude of non-conciliation the Liberal party would not have succeeded to office in 1921. Where Liberals were concerned there was always a certain amount of difference of opinion of independence of views as to the essentials of Liberalism.

BELIEVE IN UNITY

Mr. King warned that it did not do for any public man to cherish resentment. Laurier believed in unity and it was their aim to keep the Liberal party a united party.

The Liberal leader reviewed his own early history and the events that led him into public life. His father had been offered a nomination but had declined it at the instance of his mother, who recalled the bitter days of her own childhood. She had been born while her father, William Lyon Mackenzie, had been in exile, and had known poverty and want. She convinced her husband that his first duty was to their children and so one of the children, William Lyon Mackenzie King, came to the opportunity his father had given up for the sake of his family.

Because of his mother's early sufferings, it had been his life's work to help where he could the poor and the lowly. He had been first destined for a legal career but gave it up to study social and economic problems; had given up that career to enter the civil service; had given that up to enter the storm and stress of public life.

THOSE IN NEED

He was looking forward for the time to come when he would be able to do again for those in need in Canada what had been done for them during the last few years.

The only true answer to the question "Why I am a Liberal" was "because I want to do something for my fellow man which will in some way relieve his distress and widen his opportunity and give him a better, fuller life." Therein lay the essentials of Liberalism.

Given the opportunity Liberalism would give again to Canada what it had given the Dominion in 1896 and in 1921; take the country out of its distress into a period of prosperity.

Mr. King referred to the speech he made at the Liberal federation on his return from Europe last year, in which he warned about the grave situation in Europe. Mr. Bennett had ridiculed what Mr. King had said, but events of the past few days had shown who was right.

The world was in its present position because of mistaken economic policies, of economic nationalism, of economic imperialism. Some of the nations of the world were losing faith in democracy which meant losing faith in their fellowmen.

BASIS OF FREEDOM

The basis of freedom in Canada was the maintenance of responsible government in its truest sense. Responsible government was the cornerstone of the British parliamentary system; the only system under which democracy could achieve its end.

There had been a tendency in Canada to get away from it. Every measure in parliament recently dealing with labor, etc., had been in the name of the Prime Minister; there was no mention of the minister of labor, the minister of trade and commerce, the minister of agriculture. No country could be governed by one man.

"What we need in Canada today is to get back to the times when we had a government composed of cabinet ministers and not a government composed of one man laying down policies with all the other ministers subservient to him. We want ministers who will stand up for their rights, who are prepared to quit the political scene if they cannot have a share in the shaping of policies. When we get back to that form of government conditions will be safer and it will also strengthen our international influence.

MANY FELESITATIONS

From Prince Edward Island Hon. W. M. Lea, Liberal leader sent his good wishes which were read by Senator John E. Sinclair. For New Brunswick the spokesman was Senator A. B. Copp, who read a telegram from A. A. Dysart, provincial Liberal leader. Hon. Chas Stewart, member for Edmonton West, spoke for Alberta and conveyed the greetings of the Liberal leader there, William Howson. Another Senator, J. H. King spoke for British Columbia and conveyed the greetings of Premier T. D. Pattullo.

The Nova Scotia government was represented by Hon. C. W. Anderson, minister without portfolio, who said his province would be 100 per cent behind Mr. King in the next election.

LOYALTY MESSAGES

Hon. Homore Mercier, minister of lands and forests, spoke for Quebec and declared the Quebec Liberal party stood firmly behind Mr. King.

"The people of Ontario are looking for an opportunity to register a protest against the present federal administration," said Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario. He said the Liberal victory in Ontario provincial elections was an indication of what would happen in the federal election.

For Manitoba the spokesman was Hon. J. S. McDiarmid, Minister of Natural Resources. He said Manitoba was neither down nor out. A spirit of optimism was evident in western Canada and western people were looking for the return of a Liberal government at Ottawa.

Premier J. G. Gardiner, of Saskatchewan, said he had been elected as a twin brother of Premier Hepburn but had done better as he had wiped out the whole Conservative party in the Saskatchewan legislature. Western Canada, he said, was solid against the principle of protection and the policies of the Federal Conservative government. Saskatchewan was privileged to have Mr. King as one of its representatives in the House of Commons and would be sure to re-elect him.

The beautifully embossed address expressed satisfaction that all the provinces were represented at the large gathering. The sentiments of the address were the sentiments of the rank and file of the Liberal party across Canada. Mr. King had the confidence of the entire party.

EMBOSSED ADDRESS

"As the worthy successor of Laurier you have proved true to his ideals and qualities of statesmanship. You have been continuously loyal to them and you have adapted them to new needs and to the exigencies of the present.

"Our homage is due to you for having throughout your long and brilliant career, continuously and consistently upheld in practice, as well as in theory, the great Liberal principles of toleration and conciliation which you have always recognized as being the very foundation stone of our national edifice.

LOVING CUP GIFT

"We pay to you our homage again as a sincere Canadian who, while faithfully respecting the British connection, has so largely contributed to the development of Canadian autonomy and conferring on our country the true status of a nation.

"As a small token of our enduring esteem we beg you to accept this loving-cup in the hope that in future years it may remind you of the sincere goodwill of this great gathering."

Recipient Of Loving Cup Token

RT. HON. MACKENZIE KING. Liberals of all Canada joined at Ottawa Wednesday night to pledge loyalty and admiration to their national leader, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King. An embossed address and loving cup were the presentations.

GERMANY CHARGED WITH BUILDING OF 75-MILE CANNON

France Votes Additional $105,960,000 For More Air Defence—Geneva League Calls Extraordinary Session for March 28

PARIS, March 21.—A charge Germany is building long range guns of 75 miles or more like those which shelled Paris during the Great War was made last night by former Premier Edouard Herriot. Speaking at a meeting of his radical socialist party, Herriot said Germany was making tremendous efforts to make ready the country for "dreadful ends."

In a stirring address before the aviation commission of the French chamber, air minister Victor Denain demanded immediate additional credits of 1,600,000,000 francs ($105,960,000) for the purchase of more aviation supplies and anti-aircraft guns. The commission unanimously promised to co-operate with the minister in the matter.

Geneva League Calls Emergency Session

GENEVA, March 21.—An extraordinary session of the League of Nations council to deal with France's appeal against German rearmament probably will be held Thursday, March 28, league officials said last night. The announcement came as military experts here, contemplating Germany's increasing ability to produce war supplies, said they considered the next six months the crucial period for Europe's peace.

Berlin Told Of Making Panic

BERLIN, March 21—Headlines told Germany Wednesday her arms "emancipation" had spread "panic" in the world's capitals as new air manoeuvres simulating war conditions testified to the Reich's growing military power.

The foreign office, meanwhile, awaited France's note of protest against German rearmament, understood to voice vigorous criticism of violations of the Versailles treaty's military clauses. The French decision to appeal to the League of Nations was dismissed with the curt comment

"It will be so easy to answer any arguments against Germany's step."

POOR PSYCHOLOGY

Officials said they considered it poor psychology for France, presumably interested in getting Germany back to Geneva, to try to place Germany in the role of defendant before the league.

The Deutsche Diplomatische Korrespondenz, mouthpiece of the government, pointed to the danger of the formation of armed blocs of enemies in Europe, and said:

"Germany has keen interest in knowing that friendships (the reference being to French and British amity) aren't exaggerated into conspiracies against other nations."

MORE AIR GAMES

The second day of air manoeuvres—Tuesday's initial exercises were the first since the war—gave Germans an intimate picture of what an enemy air raid would be like.

Bombing planes flew low over the Kreuzberg district, south of the city's centre, shortly after 9 a.m., cannon cracker "bombs" were dropped into prepared earth piles and smokepots, arranged to give forth clouds of smoke and red and blue flames, were touched off on housetops as the planes passed over.

Tear Gas Not Bullets Urged In India Riots

The elections ended a day's session the chief feature of which was the annual report of Rev. G. G. Webber, Vancouver, field secretary for Western Canada.

REGINA, March 21.—A three-month-old baby boy being cared for by Mr. and Mrs. George Peverett, was found smothered to death in its cot Wednesday, its face buried in the blankets. After an examination and consultation, Dr. C. E. McCutcheon, coroner, announced no inquest would be necessary. The coroner pronounced death due to suffocation.

TORONTO, March 21.—James Charles McGuigan last night was installed as Roman Catholic Archbishop of Toronto in a solemn ceremony at St. Michael's Cathedral. At 40 he is the youngest Archbishop of the church in America. The former bishop of Regina who succeeds the late Archbishop Neil McNeill was enthroned before Mgr. Andrea Cassulo, Apostolic delegate to Canada, a score of archbishops and bishops representing diocese throughout the Dominion and representatives of the Dominion, provincial and civic governments.

Japanese Wheat Exports Increase

TOKYO, March 21.—Exports of Japanese wheat flour during January were 1,237,000 sacks, an increase of 491,000 sacks over January, 1934, and the February export of 980,000 sacks was a gain of 190,000 sacks compared with February, 1934.

order, declaring that his language amounted to a threat and that threats were not permitted in the house.

MEMBER STANDS PAT

Mr. MacLachlan declared he had no intention of retracting anything he had said and did not deny a statement of his in a report of his speech, which Mr. Mitchell read.

Mr. Mitchell bowed to Mr Speaker's ruling and proceeded with his address.

He lashed out at the government for the heavy legal costs involved in the recent Powlett case, which to date has cost more than $50,000.

"The lawyers in this house are always declaring themselves to be on the point of starvation," he said. "Well, all I can say, is that they should be working for the government. Just look at the legal fees in the Powlett case, a total of $12,000."

SCORES PATRONAGE

He scored the government in ringing tones for what virtually amounted to patronage in its handling of the overdue gas tax collections of the Oil Pool.

There was a total due the government on account of gas tax, from companies $55,000, he said. In 1932 the Oil Pool owed the government $12,000 in this connection and in 1933 owed $14,000. Now the amount was slightly down. In addition, the pool, had borrowed $9,000 from the Wheat Board Trust Fund.

"There is a likeness to patronage in the government suing some of the smaller companies for the amount due and taking no action against the Pool," he charged.

"POLICE INSULT"

Mr. Mitchell delivered an assault upon Donald MacLeod, U.F.A., Stony Plain for the latter's castigation of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Mr. Mitchell described this attack as an "insult" to the fine old force, which he himself had found highly efficient, excellently trained and very obliging.

Allegation was made by Mr. Mitchell that the government, in submitting a flood of resolutions for consideration, had plundered the provincial Liberal platform. "They have stolen all the Liberal platform except the leader's picture," he said. "I would advise them to get his picture, too. His new picture bears an expression of confidence."

It was charged by Mr. Mitchell that the initials "U.F.A." stood for "Unfit For Anything." He scored the government members for following blindly in their leaders' footsteps and when he saw them trooping into the house to vote was reminded of that popular radio tune, "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers."

Strong representations were made by Mr. Mitchell for the institution of a maternity grant in this province, a grant to be paid to needy expectant mothers. "If only one half the amount paid to lawyers in the Powlett case were used for this purpose, we could pay these needy cases at the rate of $25, probably," he said.

He complimented the government and thanked Hon. J. J. MacLellan, minister of public works, for building the Buck Lake road in his constituency last year, at a cost of $1,100. It filled a long-felt want, he said.

SANDERS SPEAKS

A. L. Sanders, U.F.A., Stettler, hoped action would be taken to make the future brighter for the people of the province.

He advocated that some scheme of crop insurance be instituted.

He was willing to support any Social Credit plan drafted by fully qualified economists if he could see something that would go even a short distance in helping the situation.

He would tell the people of his constituency exactly where he stood on Social Credit and was willing to rest his case on that stand. If the people chose to select someone else, then he would give that candidate all his support.

Mr. Sanders spoke favorably of the provincial highways system and that it bore favorable comparison with other provinces.

He was not discouraged regarding production. He scored Hugh C. Farthing, Conservative, Calgary, for taking up so much of the house's time in his speech replying to Donald MacLeod, U.F.A., Stony Plain.

OPPOSED BECAUSE IS ADMISSION OF OTTAWA FAILURE

Continuation of Direct Relief Sharing With Provinces Protested by the Commons Opposition.

OTTAWA, March 21. — Relief agreements with the provinces will be extended for another year at an Ottawa conference with Dominion officials, it was announced Wednesday in the House of Commons by labor minister Wesley Gordon. The present agreements lapse at the end of the month.

The house devoted the afternoon to the government's relief bill which would extend the present blank cheque for another year. Liberals announced they would oppose it because they considered it was an admission by the government of its inability to cure unemployment and relieve wide-spread distress.

NEW MEASURES PROMISED

The labor minister said the bill was designed merely to continue the direct relief agreements with the provinces and "before this session ends, other measures will be presented, looking toward providing work for our citizens." At the moment, he could not disclose the nature of the bills.

Although pressed by various Liberals and Progressives, the Labor Minister said it would be impossible for the Dominion to relieve municipalities of direct relief costs. There was no machinery through which the Dominion could watch its money except at prohibitive cost.

CONTRIBUTION SAFEGUARD

It was a safeguard to have provinces and municipalities contribute, it made them jealous to see the money was spent properly.

"I do not believe," Mr. Gordon said, "this form of relief (direct) can be abandoned. It may be possible to adjust it in the light of other measures which may be brought down in this house and in the legislatures but I do not think direct relief can be abandoned."

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former minister of justice, announced the Liberals would oppose the bill. "After five years of administration, no relief program or program to solve unemployment has yet been placed before the parliament of Canada," he said. When the government sought the fifth blank cheque it admitted its inability to formulate definite policies.

Another former Liberal cabinet minister, Hon. W. D. Euler, led the forces urging the government release municipalities of relief costs, claiming cities and towns were being pushed into bankruptcy.

A CHANCE TO DEAL

The municipal law committee threw out Edmonton's application for power to continue to collect 5 per cent on the gross revenue of the gas company. The city, it is said, stands to lose $300,000 of revenue thereby.

The company was apparently willing to pay this tax if granted an extension of the franchise for a stated period. Since the city is not in position to buy out the company, and it is doubtful if the ratepayers would sanction buying in any case, council was assuming a good deal in supposing the legislature would confirm its right to collect the tax without extending the franchise.

That has turned out to be a bad bet, but it may not be too late to accept the company's offer to negotiate for a new agreement. If the city is out the money, the company has not got the franchise it wanted. As the city needs the money and the company wants the franchise extension, there is still room for bargaining.

AGREED ON ONE POINT

The member for Wetaskiwin hazards a guess that the province will end the year with a deficit of more than $2,000,000. The Provincial Treasurer estimated the deficit at $670,000. The spread seems somewhat wide. Still, it is not beyond precedent.

For 1931 the Government budgetted for a deficit of $376,000—and produced one of more than $5,000,000. In view of that remarkable achievement in miscalculation, Mr. Montgomery has under rather than over-estimated the Government's talent for bad figuring. As a financial forecaster Mr. Love has still to show that he cannot be as far out as Mr. Reid.

The fact of the matter is that with the fiscal year ending on March 31st and the legislature meeting in the following February, it is never possible to discuss provincial finances in the house in a way intelligible to the public or closely related to current actualities. The budget speech in such circumstances is only the start of the greatest guessing-contest of the year, aside from the size of the wheat crop.

The one point of agreement is that there will be a deficit this year. Nobody doubts that; and no steps have been taken to discount the Minister's prediction that there will be a deficit also in the year that is to come.

WE'VE PAID FOR THE WAR

While Europeans are thinking about the possibility of another war, here are some figures which suggest Canadians do some plain and purposeful thinking about the last one.

Questions asked the other day in the House of Commons brought the information that Canada's war borrowings, down to Nov. 11th, 1918, reached a total of $1,447,138,558.44. Of this sum $1,339,526,528.91 was borrowed by issuing bonds which are exempt from taxation.

We are still paying interest on the entire amount of these war borrowings—every dollar of it. Issues which have fallen due have been met by fresh borrowings, and the war debt stands as it stood when the bugles sounded the armistice.

At 5 per cent—some of the bonds carried 5½ per cent—the interest bill on this sum, approximating $1,500,000,000, is $75,000,000 every year.

More than fifteen years have elapsed since November of 1918. But some of the bonds were issued and drawing interest years before that date. Taking this into account, we shall by this time next year have paid in interest the entire amount of the war debt—and will still owe the whole $1,447,138,558.44.

How often do the people of Canada intend to pay for that war? This is a question they should be asking themselves in advance of the general election which must be held some time next summer. Are we to go on paying and repaying for it while the present generation lives, and then hand it on as an undiminished drain upon the earnings of our children, and their children to the nth generation? At the past and present rate of going, a thousand years from now the cost of the war of 1914-1918 would be still unpaid, though paid and repaid every twenty years or so in the meantime.

How long is this impossible farce to continue? Apparently just as long as the public will stand for it. No government would or dare undertake to pay off the war bonds in the only way they ever can be paid, without knowing it had the solid support of a substantial majority of the public in doing so. If the electors demand at the next election that these bonds be called in and paid, in sound legal tender money issued against the wealth of the country, that will be done.

There is no reason why this cannot be done, and no reason why it should not be done. The people who lent war money to the Government should get it back, to the last cent. But they have no claim to hold a perpetual mortgage upon the earnings of the nation, and to go on everlastingly drawing away year by year a sum which amounts to $7.50 for every man, woman and child in Canada. Did the Canadian people defend their political liberty against a national enemy only to surrender their economic liberty to bond-holders?

These bonds, it should be noted, were sold in Canada, every one of them. No chatter about foreign exchange or the rights of foreign investors has any bearing on the case. We borrowed no war money abroad, and are under no obligation to pay abroad or in any currency but our own.

If and when the people of Canada demand at the polls that their Government shall call in these war bonds, pay them, cancel the war debt, and stop the deadly interest drain, that can be done, will be done, and done without doing any injustice to anybody.

Poems That Live

"I LOVE MY LIFE, BUT NOT TOO WELL"

I love my life, but not too well
To give it to thee like a flower,
So it may pleasure thee to dwell
Deep in its perfume but an hour.
I love my life, but not too well.

I love my life, but not too well
To sing it note by note away,
So to thy soul the song may tell
The beauty of the desolate day.
I love my life, but not too well.

I love my life, but not too well
To cast it like a cloak on thine,
Against the storms that sound and swell
Between thy lonely heart and mine.
I love my life, but not too well.

—Harriet Monroe.

If the city is not to be plunged into a financial crisis the cost of operating civic services must be kept within a very definite limit. Anything that exceeds that limit must not be permitted. The time when the ratepayer can be called upon to meet whatever sum the City Hall wishes to demand is past. The saturation point has been reached. It is not a question of what the property owners should be properly asked to pay but what they are able to pay. —Toronto Telegram.

The recent finding of the Royal Air Force will bring comfort to young men who feel they are overweight. "Capacity to endure severe or prolonged physical stress is found most commonly among the over-weights. The greater the degree of underweight on entry, the greater the likelihood of invaliding from the service on medical grounds."—Moncton Times.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Those Vancouver people who bombarded the coast newspapers with letters protesting against the civic reception to the cruiser Karlsruhe, seem to have followed up their written protests with vocal and geologic demonstrations. They not only hissed the German sailors, but they mobbed the police and threw stones. Some of them ended up in the cooler.

J. S. Cowper

The demonstration seems to have no connection with war memories. It was a protest against Nazi rule and the harsh treatment of Communists and Jews in Germany. The German Conusl, Dr. Seelheim, seems to have had a lot to do with inciting public feeling against his compatriots by an ill-timed and wholly gratuitous attack upon the Jews.

It's pleasing to note that whatever the German Consul or the mob did in the way of inciting trouble, the veterans' associations had no part in it. Indeed, they were among the first to extend an invitation to the officers and men of the Karlsruhe to accept British Columbian hospitality.

British people haven't long memories for former enemies. If they had, the ships of France, Spain, Holland, Russia and United States would not be as popular as they are in British ports. It would be a matter for regret if the episode in Vancouver—which paralleled similar episodes in American ports—were construed as having any relation to the bygone war. They are demonstrations against the treatment which the Nazis in Germany have been meting out to Communists and Jews in their midst, aggravated in the Vancouver instance by the unwise and inflammatory remarks of Dr. Seelheim.

The Nazis, in their fanatical pursuit of a "pure race," say that a club foot is a sign of bad blood. We don't have to quote the case of Lord Byron because the Nazi Minister of Propaganda, Doktor Josef Goebbels, is himself the unfortunate possessor of a deformed foot. Far from being the "magnificent blonde beast" that Nietschze envisioned, he is short and slight, measuring five foot three inches and weighing but one hundred pounds. He has a receding chin, a large head and a sloping forehead. But nobody in Germany feels any desire to point out these things in their devotion to truth and science. Dr. Goebbels is the head of a very ruthless and efficient espionage system.

Here's a hint for bad poets. Early in life, Dr. Goebbels sought in vain to win a livelihood writing for the theatres. He wrote a play "The Wanderer," that no manager would produce. Wisely, he did not tear it up. After becoming Minister of Propaganda and head of the espionage system he had no difficulty in having "The Wanderer" produced in the state theatres of Germany. Shrewd individuals in the audiences call out "Author! Author!" Nobody expresses disapproval.

Hitler seems once again to be reaching a crisis in his career, by renouncing the limitations imposed on German military strength by the Versailles Treaty. That Germany has been tacitly ignoring the limitations is no secret; now Germany feels strong enough to publicly denounce the military clause of the Treaty and turns the tables on France by accusing France of over-arming.

Will France ignore the challenge? Premier Flandin has extended the period of military conscription for French youth from one year to two. Hitler is not of the stuff that can be intimidated. Strong man or fool, he is undaunted. He will see in the French move a further ground for arming. Germany's population is fast outgrowing that of France. A Hitler who has assurance enough to administer a diplomatic rebuff to Britain by feigning a cold in answer to an admittedly impolitic White Paper, is not going to back down before French protests. Each month sees France in a relatively poorer position for an appeal to arms.

So the Spirit of Evil that is rampant in the world forces these two nations nearer to the bloody arena of war, with no assurance that the rest of the world will not be dragged in at their heels. The madness of national hates is preparing to take another toll of the youth of the world.

There are some pains that are soon forgotten, otherwise the race would die out. War, unfortunately, is remembered chiefly for its false glories. Twenty million men who could have told of the horrors of war are prevented by the most effective of reasons. They perished. Millions of others have died through maiming; forgetfulness has descended like a shroud over the memories of others.

The saddest of recent topical pictures are those showing trainloads of young Italian youth with rifles in their hands, grinning and smiling as they leave for war. They think of it as a picnic, as a jolly hunting party. Whole regiments of British soldiers left for South Africa in the same jolly spirit during the Boer War—going to the horrors of Spion Kop. Trainloads of young Germans left in the same happy mood for the front in August, 1914, their carriages chalked with the legend "Nacht Paris." Most of them left their bones in horrid quagmires on the western front.

We need some new editions of "All Quiet on the Western Front" and such-like strippings of the horrors of war, in circulation at the present time when nations are preparing to feed the maw of Moloch again.

This preachment has the weakness of preaching to the converts. Any journalist who wrote in this way in Germany or Italy would soon be hurried to a dungeon, if not to a firing squad. Thank goodness for the present sanity of the British people.

"War alone brings up to its highest tension all human energy and puts the stamp of nobility upon the peoples who have the courage to meet it," declares Mussolini to his unthinking, emotional and dictator-ridden people.

It hasn't even the virtue of truth. For a hundred years before 1914 Canadians lived in peace, but from our small population went 600,000 soldiers whom even Prof. Banse admits were the equal of the best.

France in her dwarfed manhood shows the result of the Napoleonic wars.

Both in physique and in moral stature nations grow bigger in peace than in war.

Stomach Ulcers

By DOCTOR FRANK McCOY

Many people who notice a gnawing feeling when the stomach is empty suffer from an inflammation of the stomach. Such an inflammation if long-continued may result in an ulceration. Stomach ulcers are more common than is generally realized. Inflammation, indigestion and excessive acidity are quite ordinary symptoms which are usually present for a long time before the ulcers develop. Those who are neglecting apparently simple digestive troubles should take warning and try to correct the comparatively mild complaint before such a serious condition as ulcers of the stomach has time to develop.

Dr. F. McCoy

The normal stomach lining is protected in some way, not yet fully known, from being eaten by the digestive juices which readily attack other kinds of flesh, such as the meat which you eat. It seems that when this lining is in a continual state of inflammation the protective power is lessened and a little point of erosion may occur which is attacked by the powerful digestive juices of the stomach. Once an ulcer forms it tends to work in deeper and the body tries to keep the ulcer from eating through the stomach wall by building up and thickening the tissue around the outside of the ulcer. Should the inside of the ulcer be eaten away faster than the outside thickens, a hole is made which necessitates an immediate operation.

Patients who have a severe gastritis or the beginning of stomach ulcers may notice a sharp burning pain after eating due to the irritation produced by the hydrochloris acid in the stomach. In many cases the pain may be relieved by taking an alkali, such as soda or milk of magnesia, which temporarily neutralizes the acid condition and stops the pain. This is a logical temporary treatment and does no harm. The great danger, however, is that one may be deluded by this relief into thinking he is getting well and take no steps to really correct the trouble, which may continue to become worse until finally a well developed ulcer has formed.

Two types of ulcers are found. In one the ulcer is in the stomach, the most common place being near the outlet, an ulcer of this type being called a gastric ulcer; in the second, it is located immediately below the stomach in the upper part of the small intestine and is called doudenal ulcer. The treatment is the same for both.

I do not know of any sure way the patient can tell by any examination he can make by himself whether he is suffering from stomach ulcers; he should rely on his doctor to do this for him.

If you believe you may have stomach ulcers, the best plan is to have a very careful examination made, including the use of the x-ray. Many factors must be considered before an accurate diagnosis of stomach ulcers can be made. Once a competent physician has diagnosed your condition as one of true stomach ulcers, you should immediately begin the right treatment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Miss June R. writes: "My sister was told by a doctor, after he gave her a breathing test, that she had hyperthyroidism. Will you kindly tell me what it means and how to cure it?"

ANSWER: Your sister was probably examined with a metabolism apparatus to determine her basal metabolism. One having hyperthyroidism secretes to much of the thyroid extract which causes loss of weight and increases the rapidity of the heart action.

QUESTION: Jonathan inquires: "Is color-blindness a common disorder?"

ANSWER: Color-blindness has been estimated to be present in fifty thousand cases in the total population of the world. However, ness, as massage or exercise might irritate the total color-blindness is a very rare condition and only about eleven cases have been diagnosed in the United States.

Horoscope

By MARY BLAKE

On March 22 it will be wise not to ignore trifles. Methodical methods will have to be employed in business, if satisfactory results are to be obtained. The day should be favorable for the planning of any future business or social activity. The fair sex are very likely to show a strong penchant to tease. Married and engaged couples, as well as those paying devoted attention to one they hope to win, will show good common sense if they do not allow any form of suspicion to enter into their garden of love.

If a woman, and March 22 is your birthday, you probably believe that brevity is not only the "soul of wit" but also of conversation and letter writing, and putting into practice your conviction on this subject may prove most helpful in a future career. If you will allow your high ideals to always motivate your actions, happiness will come to you in great abundance. Married or single, you are the type that should have no trouble in finding a great deal of happiness.

The child born on March 22 when it is between infancy and its teens, may display a hasty temper.

If a man, and March 22 is your natal day, you possibly love things with a scientific background. You possess, very likely, a mathematical talent, which will prove to be a great asset, if commercialized.

SIDE GLANCES—By George Clark

"Oh, just send the usual letter stating that I haven't been able to give the matter much thought."

On This Date

A Day in Canadian History —o— By FRED WILLIAMS

On this date in 1878 there was a real hot time in Toronto, then very much more strongly Protestant than it is today. The Fenian Brotherhood had renewed their activities in the United States and were threatening all sorts of dire things that would happen when the Marquess of Lorne and the Princess Louise, daughter of Queen Victoria, came to Canada. That was enough to put the Orangemen on their guard, but unfortunately there was at the same time a strained situation in Montreal between the Irish Catholics and the few Orangemen there. Only a few days before when the Roman Catholics of Toronto had attempted to hold a St. Patrick's Day parade there had been a serious riot, in which many heads were cracked and a good deal of property damage done in the Irish quarter.

Then to add fuel to the flame O'Donovan Rossa, the most notorious Fenian of the day, was announced to speak in Toronto. His real name was Jeremiah O'Donovan; he had been sentenced in 1865 to 20 years' imprisonment for treason and felony, but while in prison was elected M.P. for Tipperary in 1869 and was released conditionally in 1871. Then he came to America, set up Fenian headquarters in New York and appealed for funds to carry out dynamite war upon England.

Was it any wonder "Orange Toronto" resented such a visitor? A close watch was kept at the railway depot with the intention of preventing his remaining, but he got off the train from Buffalo at a nearby station and was driven into the city. During the day it became know that he had arrived and would attempt to speak in the St. Lawrence Hall, as advertised. But he never got a chance to speak, or even mount the platform. The Orangemen secured possession of the hall. They shouted for Rossa, demanding his blood; but he managed to escape disguised as a woman and was driven to Hamilton. Meanwhile there had been fierce fighting in the streets. Hotels of Irish Catholics were stoned and the windows of two Roman Catholic churches were broken and the police were helpless for hours, during which time some 300 persons were so badly injured that the hospitals were overtaxed. Rossa never came back to Toronto!

The Mail Bag

SAYS GOVERNMENT DOOMED

Editor, Bulletin: The machines on the farms of today have practically reached their fullest stage of usefulness, the farmers of today are working as it is commonly said with a binder twine and hay-wire outfit from lack of purchasing power.

This also applies to the present government; it has reached its fullest stage of usefulness, also it is a decaying government in its last stage of agony. The people have no more faith, no more confidence in it. What would be the use to continue to mend this political machine which is falling apart?

It would be much cheaper to replace it with a brand new and more efficient one which will be more capable to do the work required.

With the last hope of saving this collapsing political machine an expert, Major Douglas, is being brought over with the intention of overhauling this machine which is only fit for the scrap pile. There is no amount of persuasion which will deter us social creditors from going back to that old political machine which is too expensive to operate. There is the proof, revenue, 1921, $8,486,-946.25; revenue, 1934, $13,178,607.44, interest bearing debt, 1921, $63,-050,000, debt, 1934, $149,462,654.

It is much cheaper for us to have a new machine more efficient which will prove cheaper and more capable to tending to the needs and welfare of the people. We have that machine in our own hands nearly ready to be put into operation.

Let us social creditors unite, and with a willing spirit there is no amount of pounding which will be able to deteriorate our force, and with determination and fortitude we will force the enemy into oblivion and by so doing Alberta will gain the greatest victory the world has ever known in the annals of financial history.

The dawn of a new era is here. What a blow it will be to those who have always contrived to have us at their mercy. We are just beginning to realize how duped we have been. We must remember that their only aim is to remain in power and all possible means will be used at their disposal to attain their end. It is up to us to see that they don't attain it.

GEORGE DUTEAU.

BEGGARS ON HORSEBACK

Editor, Bulletin: I note that members in the house are asking questions re the huge uncalled for expenditure for cabinet minister's automobiles, for joy-riding purposes, etc.

I expect that the same stock excuse will be trotted out again, viz.: "That it was cheaper to buy new cars, than to have them repaired." What a line of baloney; are there no motor mechanics in Alberta out of work, and on relief? Yes, dozens of them.

Even if two thousand dollars had been spent on repairs, this sum would have circulated in Alberta, and store-keepers, farmers, etc., would have benefitted, and relief funds been reduced by that amount.

As it is the government has let ten thousand dollars leave the province for cars that we don't need, and yet they are constantly shouting to Ottawa for more relief money.

But then we don't expect consistency from this government; what we do expect and get is expenditures of $300 each for carpets, portieres, etc., $75 each for chairs, $30 each for hassocks, etc., for government house.

Then they have radios, fixed in their new cars at the taxpayer's expense, use those same cars and government gas for honeymoon trips, cradle robbing, necking parties, attending U.F.A. meetings, etc, and then show returns, that they have used 27,000 gallons of gas per car, per annum, which the 25c wheat of the farmers had to pay for.

It is currently reported, that these ministers are fitting up radios in their offices, so that they can entertain their U.F.A. freinds, to musical pink teas, and themselves to bedtime stories.

But why this haste? If they will only wait until the next election, they will hear a real bedtime story that will put them to sleep for a longer time than Rip Van Winkle's siesta.

Mr. Howson's speech on the budget, was an exposee of U.F.A. government methods; but it is only half true, because when official papers, accounts, etc, are closed to the public examination it proves fear of exposure of wrong doing.

When are the Press going to have access to criminal court actions again, as in every other part of the Empire? Haven't those embryo law-suits been hushed up, or smothered yet?

Commemorate King's Jubilee By Empire Project

By R. T. ELLIOTT, K.C.

Something practical in the way of evidencing the Jubilee Year of our reigning monarch will do infinitely more good than illuminated addresses.

Canada has the Peace River empire ready to hand as a method of British racial development, which can be made one of the great starting points in British Empire revival and in perpetuating the British ideals of freedom and home-building on the North American Continent.

A definite offer could be made to the British government of preferential, even exclusive immigration rights into the Peace River area over a term of years in return for an active co-operation in providing transportation facilities through the Peace River country from east to west and from north to south.

The best proposal would be that for the next seven years, the Imperial government and the Canadian government each contribute annually the sum of twenty million dollars to be spent in providing railways, highways and bridges. The southern railway line would run via Hudson Hope through the Peace Pass to Finlay Forks. Another line would run north of the Peace River and also go through to Finlay Forks. One hundred and sixty miles of railway would connect Finlay Forks with Prince George. A north line to Fort Laird would give access to all the Canadian McKenzie River Delta by river steamers from Fort Laird and would give access to the great ore and gold-bearing areas which extend through the Cassiar area.

The cost of one battleship per year will open up territory capable of giving homes and work to over one million British and Canadian families in a course of continuous colonization and development during the first five years. By the end of a seven-year development program this estimate can safely be doubled.

There is no competing area in the world today; there is no comparable British Empire revival opportunity in the world today.

Adding a minimum of three million people to the active, producing population of Canada will solve the financial problems of all Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Ensuring that these people come from Canadian and British stock will form an empire factor of strength through succeeding centuries.

The British government has every reason to give favorable consideration to a proposal for attaining this result. Canada has every reason to formulate and urge the proposal. No more auspicious time than the Royal Jubilee Year could be selected.

Just a little vision, and just a fair and sympathetic bringing of the proposal before the British government, will enable Canada to get going on an empire development which will be as great, probably greater, than any empire project hitherto carried out, and which will bring Canada into a great revival of strength, and earning power, and development.

EDMONTON'S LIBERALS IN MEET TONIGHT

Sessions in 39 Venues To Elect for March 28 Nominations

More than 4,000 adherents of the Liberal party will meet at 39 different venues throughout the city Thursday evening to select 440 delegates to the Liberal nominating convention to be held on Thursday, March 28, at the Masonic Temple, to select six candidates to carry the Liberal banner in the Edmonton riding in the next provincial election.

The greatest enthusiasm prevails throughout the Liberal camp, it being anticipated that well over 800 delegates and alternates will throng the hall for possibly the largest Liberal convention in the history of the party.

Another evidence of the enthusiasm prevailing, and a clear indication of the popularity of the party's appeal, is the fact that at least 21 are seeking nomination.

Heading the list seeking nomination is W. R. Howson, K.C., leader of the party in the province. Others who have signified their intention of seeking nomination, or who have been prominently mentioned as being in the field are George H. Van Allen, K.C., Charles H. Grant, K.C., G. C. O'Connor, K.C., C. W. Lee, railway conductor, Lin Bell, Nelles V. Buchanan, Mrs. E. T. Bishop, Mrs. J. A. Clarke, Mrs. F. W. Conroy, Miss Marjorie Hill, E. E. Howard, Alderman R. E. Foote, H. FAMOUS BRIDGE TEACHER

A SMART SHIFT

When partner has opened the auction and you have at once supported his call, if he makes a minimum raise it may be better to shift to no trumps than to stretch your values into a second assist which you lack. The following hand illustrates this fact. Game was impossible at hearts, but South's shift to 3 no trump, requesting the original bidder to go 4 hearts if he wished, yielded top score in the duplicate game where the hand was dealt.

North: ♠ J 10 9 3; ♥ J 9 5 3 2; ♦ A 8; ♣ A J

West: ♠ A Q 8 6 4; ♥ Q 6; ♦ 4 3 2; ♣ K 9 8

East: ♠ 5 2; ♥ A 10; ♦ K J 9 7 6; ♣ 10 7 5 2

South: ♠ K 7; ♥ K 8 7 4; ♦ Q 10 5; ♣ Q 6 4 3

Bidding went: North, 1 hearts; South, 2 hearts; North, 3 hearts; South, 3 no trumps, which held the contract.

The opening lead was the 6 of spades. Evidently East held no higher spade, and dummy's 9 held the trick, to start off the hearts. If West held a long suit headed by the A-Q, almost certainly he did not hold the ace of hearts, or he would have shown his spades. I do not understand why he failed to show his suit, without the ace of hearts. Had he done so it is very improbable that South ever would have ventured the no trump shift with the K-10 of spades. The hand probably would have been played at 3 hearts and failed to go game.

Dummy's lowest heart was led. When East played the 10 South had to guess that East did not have the A-Q left. Fortunately he guessed right. His K won the trick, and a low heart bumped together the Q and ace, as South had hoped. East led back his last spade. The K lost to West's ace. That player returned his top diamond. Dummy played the 8 and East was in with his K. The 7 of diamonds (the original fourth-best card) lost to dummy's ace. The J of spades was led. West's Q won the fourth defensive trick.

West led a club. The declarer could not afford to take any finesse at that stage, as the loss of a club trick would defeat the contract a trick. Dummy's ace was played. The declarer entered with a heart. He led his good Q of diamonds. Dummy's J of clubs was discarded. Dummy won the next heart trick, then led off its last two cards—another good heart and the 10 of spades—just fulfilling its game contract.

Provided West shows his spades, perfect defence against hearts may defeat a contract of 3 hearts. There will be 2 spade tricks taken at once. A return lead of that suit may be ruffed with the ace, making West's Q of hearts good for another trick, with the K of diamonds ready to win a fifth trick.

A Fascinating Pastime With ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D.Sc.

IF YOU CAN GET AT ONE'S DAY DREAMS DO THEY INDICATE THE VOCATION AT WHICH HE WOULD LIKELY SUCCEED BEST?
YES OR NO 2
1
DO MOST PARENTS WITH MARRIAGEABLE SONS PREFER THAT THEY MARRY BEAUTIFUL DUMB-BELLS RATHER THAN UNATTRACTIVE GIRLS WITH BRAINS?
YES OR NO
DO PEOPLE WHO STUTTER USUALLY DEVELOP A DISPLEASING PERSONALITY?
3 YES OR NO

AUTHOR'S NOTE: These answers are given from the scientific point of view. Not all moral questions can be answered with absolute scientific accuracy, but no decision as to what is morally right is possible without science. Science puts the rights of organized society above the rights of individuals.

1.—Most parents are just like normal young men and women. They look at physical attractiveness and personality first. A man would be a fool to marry a woman who was not attractive at least to him in looks and personality. Fortunately there is a wide variety of taste among men so that nearly every woman is atractive to some man—provided she has opportunity to meet a goodly number. Further, there is quite a tendency for good looks, and healthy well formed bodies to go with good personality and intelligence. Parents do not deliberately want dumb-bell daughters-in-law but by seeking good looks they are likely also to get enough brains for all practical purposes.

2.—Dr. W. K. Strong Jr. of Stanford, has developed a Vocational Interest Test by which he has found what people in different occupations like, or dislike or are indifferent about. For example as reported in the Personal Service Bulletin. Two-thirds of insurance salesmen who grade A on this test are successful, whereas only six percent of those who grade C are successful. Other occupations show similar results. All employment managers should use this or a similar test. It can only be given by a trained person.

3.—Quite the contrary. In one of the wisest books ever written on child training, "Child Guidance," Drs. Smiley Blanton and Margaret G. Blanton, the authors, say: "We have come to feel that stutterers have the most pleasing and delightful personality of any group of people of whom we know. Their quick responses to social situations, their marked sensitiveness, their keenness of perception of social relationships, give them an insite and develop in them a type of personality which is both pleasing and appealing."

Charles Dickens' DAVID COPPERFIELD

ADAPTED BY BEATRICE FABER from THE METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER Picture

CHAPTER X

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE

After a period of bitter unhappiness as a child, David Copperfield had been rescued and adopted by his aunt, Betsy Trotwood. Living at the Wickfield home during schooldays, he and Agnes Wickfield had become fast friends. Then, grown up, he had departed for London, bent on a writing career, not without misgivings, however, for he was fearful that Uriah Heep, Wickfield's clerk, was a scheming scoundrel. In London, with his friend Steerforth, he met Dora Spenlow, and there was a whirlwind courtship. Later, he unexpectedly runs across the Peggottys again, his old nurse's family. Then one day David is horrified to hear that Steerforth has run off with his little Em'ly, Dan Peggotty's betrothed niece.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

HONEYMOON COTTAGE

"I'm a'goin' to seek my Em'ly," Dan said, his eyes blazing. "Anywhere through the worreld. I'm a'goin' to find her! No one can stop me!"

"No, no!" Peggotty cried. "Not in anger as you are now. Seek her in a little while and that will be but right. Remember her as the little orphan you took in—it'll soften your heart."

Dan sank to a chair, his head in his hands, and sobbed, "I forgive her, I tell you, I forgive her."

David, his heart heav ywith suffering, watched him with a feeling of complete desolation and futility, for he knew he could do nothing.

Autumn had passed into winter and Agnes and Aunt Betsy were proudly looking at the lines that appeared at the head of a story in a monthly magazine. "A Dinner at Poplar Walk," by David Copperfield, they read.

"The dear boy is published at last," Aunt Betsy sighed happily.

"How good it is," Agnes said eagerly, "so full of promise, don't you think?"

"Tut-tut!" Aunt Betsy answered, although she was bursting with pride. "Good enough I dare say. What's keeping him? Is the London coach late?" She glanced again at David's letter. "The most important decision of my life," he says, "I know that it will make you happy, Agnes, for I think I know why he's coming. He realizes where his happiness lies. Oh, I've dreamed that you and he—"

Agnes stopped her with a kiss. Then she knelt by her chair and murmured, "Oh, Aunt Betsy, I've tried not to show—"

But the doorbell rang and David rushed in. Then there were affectionate embraces all around and excited happy exclamations of greeting.

When things had quieted down a bit, Aunt Betsy looked at David quizzically. "And what is the important news?"

David turned to her gravely and shyly. "I'm in love, completely, utterly—"

Aunt Betsy and Agnes exchanged a quick brief look. "With someone," David went on, almost inarticulate with emotion, "the loveliest, the most beautiful—" he collected himself. "—her name is Dora Spenlow."

Agnes' hand went to her breast. This that she had feared in her secret heart had finally happened. She managed a smile, however, "I'm so glad, Davy, so very glad."

David kissed her. "My sister, thank you," he said a little tremulously.

"Marriage is a serious business, Davy," Aunt Betsy said, getting up sharply, as though she could bear no more of it. Then she relented and patted his cheek. "You're very young, bless you! Well, I must have the ponies home before dark. We'll be meeting soon, David." And with this she left abruptly.

The sound of hammering had been coming through the window, and now David noticed it.

"Uriah has entered into partnership with Father," Agnes explained. "He's putting up a new brass plate."

David was aghast. "That mean, fawning fellow? Worming himself into such a promotion? Your father agreed to such a step?"

Agnes hesitated. "Father says it's his own choice," she said finally. "But I know that it was forced upon him."

"But surely he confides in you?"

Agnes shook her head. "No longer. Uriah has moved himself into father's office and is living here."

"For some reason I cannot understand, father seems afraid of him."

An idea occurred to David. "Micawber is in his confidence. I'll try to get at the truth through him."

But David's talk with Micawber was a complete failure. When the latter realized he was being asked for information, he flatly declined to say anything further. Swinging about on his stool a bit, he said with dignity, "Allow me to offer a remark. I am here in a capacity of trust and confidence. I would, therefore, take the liberty of suggesting that, in our friendly intercourse—we exclude the affairs of Messrs. Wickfield and Heep." He looked at David anxiously. "I trust that I give no offense?"

David forced himself to be gracious about it. "As you wish," he said lightly.

At dinner that night Uriah, flushed and dominant, sat at one end of the table pouring cordials for everyone. Agnes hurriedly left the room, as if the sight of her father's complete subservience to Uriah was loathesome to her.

When the door had closed behind her Uriah rose to his feet. "Come fellow partner, if I may take the liberty," he began, pouring some more wine, "I'll give you one to the divinest of her sex—Agnes—Agnes Wickfield. May I speak out among friends? To be her father is a proud distinction, but to be her husband—"

With a terrible cry, Wickfield leaped to his feet. "You——"

"What's the matter?" Uriah demanded, glaring at Wickfield. "You're not gone mad, are you? I have as good a right, a better right, than any other man."

David shook Wickfield gently by the shoulders. "I beg you, be calm sir. Please sir."

Wickfield pointed at Uriah wildly. "I see him now for what he is—a——"

Uriah scowled at him menacingly. "Better stop his mouth, Copperfield, or he'll say something he'd be sorry for afterwards, and," he added significantly, "you'd be sorry to have heard."

Wickfield stared at him, then slowly subsided like a pricked balloon. It was evident he knew the meaning of the threat contained in Uriah's words.

And Uriah, seeing his advantage, now assumed an air of composure.

"Oh David, David," Wickfield moaned brokenly, "I've destroyed my own child's happiness. See the ruin I have made and hate me."

And these were the last words David could draw from him on the subject. He left the house none the wiser, but with sorrow in his heart for Wickfield and for Agnes.

It was not long before David's wedding day rolled around, and from then on he took up an existence of happiness that seemed to be more dream than reality.

He and Dora made their residence at Highgate, a suburb of London. There they lived in a charming, tiny cottage, covered with vines, and set in a small garden.

"I'm in love, with someone — the loveliest, the most beautiful — her name is Dora Spenlow."

One snowy winter evening, he was turning the key in the lock of the door, when it was suddenly thrown open to him, and Dora flung herself into his arms with a tremendous hug. "Oh Doady, how impatient I've been." She spied the small package in his hand. "How lovely! You've brought me a present!"

David drew her close, then tilted up her small, dimpled chin. "I hope the evening will go well and you've a good dinner for Aunt Betsy and Mr. Dick."

"Oh dear," Dora said with a comic little grimace. "Isn't he a tiresome Doady! Dinner's going to be beautiful. What's in the parcel, Doady?"

"My dearest little wife," David kissed her lightly. "It's the latest cookery book."

"Oh Doady, how clever you are. Now we can have beautiful dinners." She was glancing through the book with bright-eyed interest.

"My dear love," David said with tender reproach, "I was shocked at the butcher's bill. Where is the account book?"

"It's somewhere, Doady," Dora replied vaguely, turning a page of the book.

"It might be under Jip's pagoda—or in my guitar case."

But David had already unearthed it beneath a pile of papers. "My pet," he protested. "There are no accounts here. All these drawings of flowers and ships—and this seems to be my own likeness, and —Jip has apparently walked over it —and the accounts seem very peculiar—"

Dora wrapped her arms around his neck beguilingly. "I'm sure I'm very affectionate," she pouted prettily. "But those figures are so obstinate. They will not add up. Don't be cross, Doady," she coaxed as David frowned. "Don't be a naughty old Bluebeard! Oh Doady look at the wrinkles," she said laughing and clapping her hands, for she had picked up a pencil, and playfully marked his forehead with it. He glanced in the mirror, and despite his previous annoyance, started laughing. And in another moment the place rang with their combined merriment.

But at dinner that night, David's worst fears were realized. Everything that could go wrong, did. The oysters had not been opened, the roast was brunt on one side and raw on the other. Maryann, the cook, was in one of her half drunken stupors again, and Jip kept running around the table, snapping and barking at everyone.

Finally David, exasperated beyond control, turned sharply to Dora. "Well, this is a fine dinner you've given us," he said harshly.

The slow tears started trickling down Dora's cheeks. "Oh dear, oh dear," she sobbed, "I wish I was dead." And with this she flew out the door.

(David married but a few short months, and already his happiness is threatened. Will he and Dora part? What will the future bring them? Be sure to read tomorrow's thrilling installment.)

The Debunker

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph.D.

THE AUTHOR OF "HOME SWEET HOME" WAS NOT A HOME-MAKER

John Howard Payne, who wrote the immortal song entitled "Home, Sweet Home," never even had a home of his own. He roamed about over the earth, a homeless and lonely man, and finally died, at the age of 61, in Tunis, Africa. The United States consul had a simple slab put on his grave, reading:—

'Sure when thy gentle spirit fled
To realms beyond the azure dome,
With arms outstretched, God's angels said:
'Welcome to Heaven's Home, Sweet Home.'"

New Ideas Promised At Empire

Of first importance to every housewife in Edmonton is today's announcement that the Canadian School of Home Science will conduct a three-days' course in the Empire theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Edmonton Bulletin.

"Give us new ideas," is the cry of intelligent women who realize that keeping house is one of the nation's most important jobs. And it is to answer this demand that Miss E. Frances Thompson, internationally-known home economist, is conducting her schools in leading Canadian communities. The famous school is being brought to Edmonton by the Edmonton Bulletin, which realizes no service it could do for its thousands of women readers seems more valuable than to bring them the very latest instruction in cookery and home management.

"Feeding a family," says Miss Thompson, director of this famous school, "is a man-size job, and the women doing it have little time to think out new methods and new dishes. So I started my three-day cooking schools to give the one hundred and one new ideas that put variety into the meals and that minimize the work attached to their preparation. Men and women engaged in other work have new ideas given them constantly, so why shouldn't the house-wife, whose job is such a big one, have the same opportunity?"

Miss Thompson has attained distinction in the field of domestic science throughout Canada and her schools have become of national importance. She was formerly instructress of household science in London, England. Capacity audiences greet her wherever the schools are held.

ENTIRE RANGE OF DOMESTIC SCIENCE

The course not only includes cooking, but covers much of the entire range of domestic science. In addition to learning how to cook better, at less cost, in shorter time, the housewife is made familiar with the many inventions, electrical and otherwise, that have made and are making for health, comfort, speed and convenience in the kitchen.

As well as dealing with the preparation of foods, the lectures emphasize the dietetic value, proper selection, and comparative merits of particular dishes. And not only must they be cooked properly, they must be served properly, in the right dishes, with the right table appointments. Thoroughly familiar with her subject and essentially practical in her treatment of it, Miss Thompson demonstrates as she talks, from a stage equipped with the most modern kitchen aids, from range and refrigerator to cabinet and sink. And during the lectures she welcomes informal discussion on any branch of home management.

Further details about the three-day course to be conducted in the Empire Theatre, will be announced within a few days.

Women Who Watch The Wheels Go Round

This throng of hundreds of women recently gathered in a Canadian city to watch Miss Frances Thompson, director of the Canadian School of Home Science, demonstrating new methods of preparing foods and home management. They were the alert women of their city, and caught a new and rather breathless insight into what the future of the wise and informed matron will be like . . . with plenty of leisure and lightened duties. Miss Thompson will be in Edmonton Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and Thursday evening at the Empire theatre, to conduct the school, under the auspices of the Edmonton Bulletin. The hundreds of Edmonton women who saw her on her previous visit here are eagerly awaiting her modernized and up-to-the-minute methods of this year. One may be sure she has dozens of new tricks up her smart white smock sleeve. Handsome prizes will be awarded each day, with especially valuable awards on the final evening of the school. There is no admission price, and all feminine Edmonton is invited to be the guest of the Bulletin on this occasion.

FIVE hundred Chicago business men described the ideal "business girl" recently for the West Area Business and Professional Women's Club. And here's how they want 'em:

1. About 26 years old (34 per cent. would permit 35 years).
2. Sensible. (Every man agreed on this).
3. Attractive (but they don't have to be blonde).
4. Friendly (with customers, of course).

The questionnaire revealed that 44 per cent. of employers think women are as good as men, while 33 per cent. think they're hopeless.

THE WIND

Hilda I. Rostron, in the Empire Review

There are so many vagrant winds
And all of them are blest;
But one wind passes through my soul
Stirring my feet to quest.
Laden with breath of pulsing soil
Sweet-soaked with Spring's soft rain;
Fragrantly filled with secret scents
Of woods where leaves have lain,
Haunter of cliffbound solitudes
Carrying Sea's salt kiss;
Mazing my heart with happiness . . .
Can man give more than this?

Army and Navy L.A. Arranges Jolly Banquet

A very successful affair of the season was held Wednesday evening in the Shasta Peacock room, when the Ladies Auxiliary of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada entertained members of the Edmonton unit of the men's club and their wives, at the annual banquet. Toasts were proposed to "The King," the "Auxiliary," the Men's Unit and City of Edmonton. In responding to the toast to the Auxiliary Mr. P. Dennison expressed his regret at the absence of the president of the men's club, Mr. Robertson; and Mr. Park, in his response to the toast to the men's club, expressed his every good wish for continued co-operation between the Auxiliary and the men's unit. He also spoke very highly of the way in which the Auxiliary carries on under its own charter, and of the very excellent work which is being done in connection with returned men's families. Mayor Clarke, in responding to the toast to "The City", spoke very fittingly of the comradeship of the Auxiliary, and also on the many problems facing the world today in every walk of life.

Mrs. McGowan, on behalf of the members of the Auxiliary, presented a beautiful bouquet of carnations and tulips to the president, Mrs. J. Park. After dinner Mr. Sturrock, accompanied at the piano by Mr. S. Hobson, gave some of the old-time war songs which were well received and much enjoyed, everyone joining in heartily. Music for dancing, was very kindly supplied by Mr. Mayo.

Those present were: the Mayor and Mrs. Jos. A. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. J. Park, Mrs. McGowan, Mrs. McConnell, Mrs. D. Rees, Mrs. A. E. Kingman, Mrs. L. A. Shuttleworth, Mrs. C. Lashbrook, Mrs. Bissett, Mrs. Lamb, Mrs. Jepp, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Malcolm, Mrs. Veterol, Mrs. Fairall, Mrs. Coulson, Mrs. Hoyle, Mrs. D. FRESH FISH FOR LENT

General Recipes

FOR BAKING WHITEFISH

Fish weighing 3 to 6 pounds, oil or melted fat, finely sifted bread crumbs.

Prepare the whitefish by cutting off head, tail and fins, then splitting it down at the backbone like a finnan haddie so that it will lie flat open. Oil a baking pan and place fish in it, skin side down, sprinkle well with salt, then strew all over with finely sifted bread crumbs. Now sprinkle over it oil or melted fat. Place in a hot oven of 500 degrees. Add no water. Allow to bake quickly until well browned. Three pound fish take 15 to 20 minutes and six pound fish 25 to 30 minutes. The heat may be reduced for the larger fish towards the end of cooking time.

Colorlessly fried onions, if liked, may be strewed over the fish before the blanket of bread crumbs.

Yolando Club Displays New Spring Models

Today is the first day of spring, according to the calendar, and even if March, the old lion, seems here to stay with his blustering and winds, there's many a chance to feel springlike at any of the delightful fashion shows which are the order of the season, and the Yolando club display of Johnstone Walker's Limited, costume suggestions for the spring season, held in the Tivoli on Wednesday evening was quite one of the smartest.

Jantzen knitted suits, in gay colors, were shown, in two and three-piece models, were worn with oxfords and crush felt fats in black or brown. Coats featured especially the Hurlingham utility model, smart for street wear and all weather, checked in browns or soft shades of blue, and belted. The Clark Gable tailored Donegal was dashing with its box pleat in the back, at the shoulder line, and set in belt.

Swagger suits, in two or three-piece style, are perfect for spring wear. The Hurlingham hand woven suits were among the smartest, and a clever model of cocktail blue, with three-quarter length cape and worn with an off the face brimmed hat was one of the most attractive. A short coat swagger of imported tweed had the new note in its plaid collar, and big topaz buttons down the vest. Afternoon frocks were of printed silks, largely, and the rainbow pure dye silk is quite the latest in style. A matlasse crepe in sumach shade was smart, and the dress of the week was grey silk crepe with navy trim.

Fur jackets of lapin were again shown, in beige black and grey. Fashioned with stand-up collars, they had that casual air of jaunty grace. A belted trotter in brown was smart, and the 43 inch swagger of fur especially good.

A merry widow afternoon frock had a circlet of diamente at the throat above which the ruching of net gave that new suggestion of the old fashioned ruff. As a finale an ensemble in blue featuring the leading shades in jubilee Marina, Tyrol and navy was shown. The frock of jubilee blue was especially dashing with its touches of white at the collar and pockets.

Introducing the show, and then as a fitting conclusion, little Jerry Snow, pupil of Miss Dorothy Murray, was seen in toe dance numbers, to "Alice Blue Gown", and was a most attractive young Miss in her frilled Alice blue gown and quaint poke bonnet.

Yolando club members who were mannequins for the affair included Miss Florence Marshall, Miss Margaret Hogan, Miss Jessie McDonald, Miss Lorna Conger, Miss Margaret Stevenson and Mrs. H. Soley, and were assisted by Mrs. A. H. Moyes and Miss C. Peterson.

The mezzanine floor was crowded with spectators and in the main ballroom tables were also arranged where coffee was served. Proceeds of the affair will be used for the work of the Kinsmen's Preventorium camp.

SPRING STORY WILL DELIGHT THE CHILDREN

"The Wind, the Birds and the Telegraph Wires" will be a spring story for the Story Hour this week. The picture story will be "Puss In Boots," the old favorite of many years. The hours are 4:30 on Friday in the Edmonton Library, and 10:30 on Saturday in the Strathcona Library.

LABOR YOUNG PEOPLE FORM C.C.Y.M. GROUP

With 50 young people in attendance, an Edmonton branch of the C.C.Y.M. (Co-operative Commonwealth Youth Movement) was formed at a meeting held in the Labor club rooms on Thursday evening, when Bill Thornton, Gordon McAfee, Jim Davidson and Isabelle Welsh were elected as temporary officers. E. E. Roper, secretary of the Provincial Council of the C.C.F., presided.

The C.C.Y.M. was organized on a national basis as the youth section of the C.C.F. at the national convention held in Winnipeg last summer when 100 delegates were in attendance from all sections of Canada. Elvin Spencer, son of the federal member for Battle River, who represented Alberta at the Young People's Conference in Winnipeg, was present on Thursday evening and outlined some of the highlights of the conference held last summer.

Alderman J. W. Findlay, president of the Edmonton Labor Party, E. E. Owen, chairman of the youth committee, spoke briefly. Miss Isabel MacMillian discussed some of the problems confronting young people.

A social hour was enjoyed following the meeting when refreshments were served by Mrs. E. E. Owen, Mrs. D. L. Shortliffe and Mrs. Jas. Young.

The group, which is composed largely of young men, will meet in the club rooms, upstairs 10012 102nd street, on the second and fourth Thursday of each month.

National Officer Of C.W.L. Dies In Montreal

Deeply regretted by friends and members of the Catholic Women's League across Canada is the word of the death of Miss Margaret Jones, of Montreal, executive secretary of the National Catholic Women's League which took place on Thursday morning in her city home. Miss Jones visited Edmonton last summer with Mrs. J. Coffey, national president, on their return from attending the conference held in Victoria. She was entertained by the Catholic Women's League here and by friends, privately. For 15 years, Miss Jones held office in the national executive as executive secretary, for she was the first executive secretary in the organization.

MARIE HAUGAN IS BRIDE OF EARLY SPRING

One of the loveliest of springtime weddings was that of Marie Gweneth Haugan, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Haugan of Edmonton and Clarence Albert Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnson of Minburn, which took place at five o'clock on Sunday afternoon, at the family residence of the bride's parents. Rev. J. K. Smith read the marriage ritual for the ceremony which was performed before an altar banked with ferns and spring flowers.

The bride, given away by her father, was charmingly pretty in her wedding gown of white crepe de chine, simply fashioned, with long sleeves, and with which she wore a veil of point d'esprit, gracefully draped from an embroidered cap of pearls. She carried an armful of pink rose buds.

During the signing of the register Mrs. L. Beatty sang and later a reception was held for about 75 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside at 11108 University Avenue.

Mr. Johnson is popularly known in University circles, having been graduated with the class of 1934 in Science.

Calendar

The March meeting of the Edmonton Economics Association will be held at the Edmonton Technical school, on Monday, at eight o'clock. Mr. M. J. Hilton will speak on "Silk."

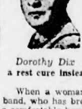
Mother Of Seven Wants To Do Things Well

DEAR MISS DIX—What can a woman do when she has reached the age of 40 and realizes that she is not interesting, charming or well educated? I have seven children, but with all of them in school I still have leisure time in which to improve my mind or do something worth while, something better than running my house and taking care of my husband and children. I go to church, sew and help there. I run a charity affair one day a week. Play bridge sometimes. But I feel that there are so many interesting things to do in this world and I hate to have lived and not enjoyed any of them. I am so afraid that I am turning out to be just A HUMMING BIRD.



Dorothy Dix

Answer:

If you keep house, take care of your husband and seven children and do charity and church work, I should think that your role was that of the industrious hen rather than that of the flighty humming bird that flits from flower to flower. I should think that any woman who performed all of those activities would be inquiring the way to a rest cure instead of asking how to find new fields of endeavor.

When a woman who has been a good and helpful wife to her husband, who has brought up a family of nice children and who has made a comfortable home, tells me that she wishes she could do "some worthwhile work," I never know whether I feel more like bursting into tears or giving her a good shaking. For it is so irritating that any woman should be so dumb as not to know that the domestic woman who makes a good job of being a wife and bringing up a family is the greatest woman in the world—the woman who has performed the greatest service to her day and generation and the only woman of us all who is necessary.

All the balance of us, we women who write and sculpt and paint and get elected to congress and run businesses and whatnot in public that gets our names in the papers, never would be missed if we were swept off the earth. A thousand men could take our places and do our work. But nobody can take the place of the mother and wife and homemaker. She is what keeps the world going.

But for Heaven's sake don't worry about not having done anything worth while. DOROTHY DIX.

SILKEN SPINDLES

By Laura Lou Brookman

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GALE HENDERSON, pretty and 23, works in a silk mill. She and her 19-year-old brother, PHIL, support their invalid father.

STEVE MEYERS, who also works in the mill asks Gale to marry him. She promises to give an answer in a few days.

Gale goes skating, breaks through the ice and is rescued by BRIAN WESTMORE whose father, now dead, built the mill. Brian has come home after two years in Paris to enter the mill. Gale disappears before he learns her name.

VICKY THATCHER, daughter of ROBERT THATCHER, general manager of the mill, schemes to captivate Brian.

LEOTA BOLLER, another employee, tells Gale the mill workers are planning to organize and demand their rights. She asks Gale to come to a meeting and Gale agrees. Later she hears that Leota is a company spy.

Steve brings Gale some roses, apologizes and asks her to forget that they quarrelled. She agrees.

CHAPTER XX

BRIAN WESTMORE skated slowly, hands in pockets, the tip of his cigaret glowing in the darkness. As far as the bend in the river where the big cottonwood hung out over the ice he went, then turned back. He had made the trip three times within the last half hour.

Brian skated close to the river bank, in the shadows. Now and then he looked back, but there was no one in sight. He had the river to himself until he drew near the boat house. There were other skaters there—a number of boys playing hockey, half a dozen young girls, several couples and a dark youth cutting figures on the ice.

One of the hockey players went down and there were shrill cries and laughter. Brian circled the edge of the crowd, keeping his eyes on the place where the road came down past the boat house to a sort of wharf. That was where most of the skaters sat to put on their skates. He watched the place and suddenly a girl in a short, dark jacket and scarlet cap appeared.

Brian moved forward—and then swung back. There was another figure behind the girl, the figure of a man. A minute later the two started across the ice and Brian saw that the girl was not so tall as he had thought, nor so slender.

"She isn't coming," he told himself.

No, Gale Henderson wasn't coming. He'd been telling himself that for 15 minutes and yet he waited. Brian tossed his cigaret aside, turned and made his way up the river again.

The wind was cold and for a while he skated briskly to warm himself. He reached the turn in the river and once more doubled back. This time would be the last. If he didn't see her this time—

All day long Brian had been looking forward to seeing Gale Henderson, saving things to tell her. He couldn't forget the girl. It wasn't that she was so pretty, though of course she was that, too. But he wanted to talk to her. He felt he could talk to her. Brian, during the past few weeks, had discovered that there were plenty of people to dictate letters to, there were plenty to attend conferences and to present reports and tables of figures, there were plenty to attend his mother's dinner parties but there was almost no one to talk to.

* * *

The men at the mill, heads of departments and their assistants, were all older than he was. When Brian wanted to make a suggestion he was aware of this, aware, too, that they were experienced and he was not. So he listened and, once or twice, when he spoke about something, the others were attentive and respectful but before long the discussion was going on just as it had and somehow Brian's suggestions were overlooked.

He'd tried getting acquainted with some of the younger men, the assistants, but that hadn't turned out very well either. Gale Henderson was the only one about the mill who had really treated him like a human being. He wanted to tell her about that pension plan he'd worked out and see if she thought the employes would like it. He felt he knew Gale Henderson well, that they were old friends, though he'd only talked to her once. Perhaps that was because they'd been at school together.

He passed the place where they'd had their campfire the night before. The shore was dark and lonely now. And there was no slender figure wearing a short skirt and leather jacket skating toward him. There was no one at all in sight.

Brian told himself again, "She isn't coming."

This time when he reached the boat house he took off his skates and walked down the road to the place where he had left his coupe. He got inside and turned the car about and started for home. Half way there he changed his mind and made a turn left. His mother was having some friends in, he remembered, and he didn't want to see them. He could drive to the club and see if anything was happening there or he could look up Ted Bainbridge—

Brian decided to do none of these things. A better prospect presented itself. He'd drop in at Thatcher's. If Vicky were home he'd be assured of agreeable company. Vicky was a good sort—just the one to get him out of this moodiness.

* * *

A maid in uniform answered his ring and said yes, that Vicky was in.

Brian said, "Where is she—in the living room? I'll go in—"

He turned into the large room at the left. Vicky was there, slim and picturesque in emerald velvet, with one arm stretched against the back of the davenport. Her dark hair was sleek and shining, her lips a sulky blaze of crimson.

A young man sat facing her. He was a tall young man with tawny-reddish hair and his features were pleasant enough but it was clear that the young man was not pleased about something.

He said, "But look, Vicky—" and then stopped, seeing Brian.

Vicky was on her feet at once. "Brian!" she exclaimed, hurrying forward. "How sweet of you! I'd begun to think you'd buried yourself in that mill. Come and tell us how the wheels of industry are turning."

Greg Harmon had risen, too, but he was not smiling. "Hello, Brian," he said rather curtly. "How're you? Hope you don't mind if I run along?"

"Oh, but see here—!" Brian began.

"Greg was just leaving," Vicky assured him. "He doesn't find me sufficiently entertaining tonight. Really I think heaven must have sent you, Brian, to keep me from spending a pokey evening alone."

She turned toward the other man, "Good-night, Greg," she went on. "Give me a ring, won't you, tomorrow about 4? Don't call me earlier because I'm going shopping with Claire."

"You're sure I'm not interrupting," Brian asked.

Greg Harmon said, "No—got to be on my way. Got some things to see about. All right, Vicky, I'll call you."

He was gone. Vicky sank back on the davenport, leaning her head against her open palm. The loose sleeve fell back, revealing a slim white arm. "Thank goodness that's over," she said dryly. "Give me a cigarette, Brian. I feel the need of one."

"You, Vicky? What on earth have you been doing?"

The girl's eyes regarded him pensively. "It's Greg," she said. "I don't know what I'm going to do about him."

"Well—?"

* * *

She shook her head. "Greg's getting to be a problem, Brian. Honestly, I don't know what to do. Just because I've gone around with him a little—playing golf and riding horseback and now and then going to parties—he seems to think I haven't any right to go with anyone else. It's ridiculous! And whenever I say anything he gets the way he was tonight—sullen and simply unbearable."

Brian shook his head, smiling. "The perils of being an irrestible charmer, my dear!"

Vicky pouted. "You can laugh," she said, "but it isn't very funny to me." Suddenly she stopped and the dark eyes grew rounder. "Oh," she said, "I've just thought of something—"

"Animal, mineral or vegetable?"

She made a deprecating little movement with one hand. "I'm serious. Really I am." She went on, her voice touched with excitement. "But I don't see why it wouldn't work! Brian, will you do something for me?"

"Maybe I'd better hear about it first."

"It's nothing that would be so terribly hard—at least I don't think it would be. Just to take me to a few parties and be seen with me places. Oh, it's the very thing! Would you, Brian? Would you do that?"

"See here, I don't know what you're getting at."

"It's about Greg," she explained. "Don't you see that if you begin taking me places and—sort of seem fond of me—it will be the best way in the world to teach Greg that he can't order me around and bully me the way he's been trying to? It's exactly what he needs. You wouldn't have to keep it up long—only until Greg comes to his senses."

"Oh," he said, "I see. You want me to step in and play the heavy lover until Greg gets the idea he's not wanted."

Vicky nodded. There was a gleam of almost feline satisfaction in the dark eyes. "Of course," she said, "we'd only be pretending."

"Of course. Well, if all you want me to do is to be your attentive escort I don't know how I can refuse."

"You'll do it? You will?" She put both hands on his arm and drew him nearer. "Oh, Brian," she said, "you are sweet!"

She looked very pretty as she raised her face to his, eyes glowing and the red lips slightly parted. Another girl had disappointed him that evening. Brian Westmore said slowly, "Of course, I'll help you, Vicky. Of course I will."

Minute Make-Ups

By V. V.

It's almost a necessity these days to carry two shades of powder in your compact—or two compacts—if you are to keep your make-up natural looking. A large nose or a prominent chin should have the darker shade to minimize the size.

BETTER SHOES

Shoes will certainly keep their shape better if trees are put into them as soon as they are removed. Then the trees straighten out the wrinkles before the dampness from the foot has left the shoe and caused the wrinkles to set.

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL. COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

"Yee-oopie," yelled the ol' cowboy. "It really fills my heart with joy to see you Tinies smiling as I do my smart rope stunts.

"It isn't hard, when once you know exactly how you have to throw this length of rope around in air. You ought to try it, once."

"I'm game," yelled Scouty. "Let me take the rope, and I'll just bet I'll make my little friends applaud me. I have confidence galore.

"I'll form a loop and jump right through. That is, that's what I'll try to do. If I succeed with this fine trick, I'll gladly do some more."

* * *

"I wish you luck! Go right ahead! Here is my rope," the cowboy said. Wee Scouty started whirling it, and what a sight to see.

He knocked his hat off, to the ground, and even whirled himself around. He looked up at the Tinies, as confused as he could be.

"Well, son, you're really not so good, but you have done the best you could," exclaimed the friendly cowboy, "and you can't be scorned for that.

"I think you'd better watch me do another little stunt for you. Just sit there and enjoy my show, but first pick up your hat."

* * *

And then he smiled, and said, "Don't peep! Poor little Duncy's sound asleep. I think I'll play a trick on him and give him a surprise.

"Just watch my rope, 'cause ere I'm through, 'twill grab him just above one shoe. He'll be a startled youngster when he opens up his eyes."

And then the long rope sailed right out. The aim was good, without a doubt. The big loop found its mark, and then 'twas pulled up good and tight.

One real good jerk, and Duncy fell. The bunch then heard the cowboy yell, "Hey, wake up, little lad! You shouldn't sleep until it's night."

(The tumblers entertain the Tinies in the next story.)

Add Perfume To Beauty Bath For Delicate Body Fragrance

By GLADYS GLAD

"America's Most Famous Beauty"

According to all legends, the famous charmer, Cleopatra, really was not anything approaching a beauty. Cleo, however, certainly knew how to enchant the males. In her opinion, fragrance was of paramount importance. Scents were brought from all the known corners of the world for her use, and it was usually in the bath that Cleopatra used these perfumes.

A delicate fragrance added to the bath, not only gives the entire body a delightful fragrance, but also adds to the refreshing effects of the bath. Of course, there are any number of methods of perfuming the bath effectively. But like the average Parisienne, I personally like the eau-de-cologne method. Eau-de-cologne I think most effective, because the alcohol contained in the composition of this fluid is one of the most healthful of skin stimulants. As you probably know, it not only closes the pores, but also is a very valuable antiseptic. Therefore, your skin is not only agreeably perfumed when you use eau-de-cologne, but is also doubly protected from germ invasion.

ANOTHER METHOD

Another method whereby the beauty bath may be made more of a beauty aid than it ordinarily is, is through the use of meal bags. There are three meals that are particularly effective; namely, oatmeal, almond meal and bran. Make small cheese-cloth bags, and place in each bag a cup of ordinary bran. Then sew the bags shut, and whenever you take a bath, toss one of them into your bath water. This immeasurably helps to soften the water and to keep the skin soft and smooth. A teaspoon of lavender flowers or orris root added to the bran will lend a delicate fragrance to the bath.

In like manner, for using other meals, make small cheesecloth bags and put into each half a cup of almond meal, a cup of oatmeal and a teaspoon of either lavender flowers or orris root. Use these bags in the same manner as the bran bags, tossing one in your tub each time that you bathe. They are grand for softening and perfuming the water, and for keeping the skin smooth and velvety.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Enemas

Patsy: It is indeed harmful to make a practice of taking enemas every day. Evacuation should be a natural function. Attention to diet, and corrective exercises will aid in remedying constipation.

Thin Legs

Babs: My method of developing and shaping thin, scrawny, shapeless legs is too long to print here. It is, however, fully described in my article on "Care of the Feet and Legs."

Colors

Rita: I think that shades of blue, tan, brown, grey, dark green, dark red and black are most flattering to a person of your coloring.

Clever Seasoning Makes Tasty Dishes

By MARY E. DAGUE

Onions, baked brown on top and well buttered, spicy red cabbage fixed sweet and sour, mealy potatoes boiled in their jackets, mushrooms in a delicate sauce or combined with eggplant to produce an inimitable new flavor thrill—what's the matter with vegetable plates, I ask you?

What's the matter with them, of course, is the unimaginative way in which they are usually served. Places that boast of their vegetables will put down before the luncher an assortment of bland cooked green things that taste for all the world as if they had been boiled in the same pot and seasoned out of the same shaker. Not a "different" note in a carload! No wonder women I know mourn because they have been put on vegetable diets.

Sister Mary

Clever seasoning will make almost any vegetable palatable. Spinach, Irish potatoes, eggplant and many other bland vegetables gain point by the use of mushroom seasoning—mushrooms themselves, mushroom paste or mushroom catsup.

A suspicion of onion lifts many an uninteresting dish into the savory class. The French use shallots of the onion family, in almost every meat and vegetable dish they cook. Onion powder, a comparatively new product, will do instead of onion itself.

I served broiled mushrooms on eggplant steak the other evening for dinner and began my menu with salmon bisque and Melba toast, radishes, celery and new onions. Then come the eggplant and mushroom combination, beet greens in lemon butter, fresh fruit salad with cheese cups and finally snow pudding.

Eggplant is being shipped to the northern markets from the south and it's exciting to eat a September vegetable in March.

BROILED MUSHROOMS ON EGGPLANT STEAK

One pound mushrooms, 1 large eggplant, 4 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, salad oil.

Melt butter. Dip each mushroom cap in butter, season with salt and pepper and broil. Arrange on slices of broiled eggplant, garnish with sprigs of parsley, lemon cups and serve.

To prepare eggplant cut in slices about ¾ inch thick and pare. Let stand in salt water (2 tablespoons salt to 4 cups water) for 1 hour. Drain and dry between paper towels. Dip each slice in salad oil, sprinkle lightly with pepper and broil.

One cup minced salmon, 3 cups hot milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon minced onion, celery tops, parsley.

Sprinkle lemon juice over salmon. Add onion, celery tops and parsley to milk and scald. Strain. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Cool milk before combining with butter and flour mixture. Add salmon which has been rubbed through a sieve. Season with salt and pepper and bring to the boiling point. Serve at once.

SNOW PUDDING

One tablespoon granulated gelatine, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup boiling water, ¾ cup sugar, 1-3 cup lemon juice, whites of 2 eggs.

Soak gelatine in cold water for five minutes. Dissolve in boiling water. Add water and stir until dissolved. When cool add lemon juice. Put in a large pan of ice water and stir occasionally until jelly begins to thicken then beat with a rotary beater until frothy. Add whites of eggs beaten until stiff and continue beating until mixture is stiff enough to hold its shape. Turn into individual molds to chill. Unmold and serve very cold with custard sauce made with the yolks of eggs.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Halves of grape fruit, cereal, cream, codfish hash, cornbread, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Asparagus with hard cooked eggs on toast, hearts of lettuce with French dressing, canned peaches in raspberry gelatine, sugar cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER: Salmon bisque, Melba toast, relishes, broiled mushrooms on eggplant steak, beet greens in lemon butter, fresh fruit salad, cheese cups, snow pudding, milk, coffee.

Your Children -

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Children never know how hard their parents work.

Look back. Did you, mother? Of course not. You thought all those lovely little starched dresses and white shoes and curls of yours just came from some fairy godmother, as your right. That the flapjacks you stowed away, daddy, on dark winter mornings before school, just appeared like Two-Eyes' little table in the fairy tale.

O. R. Barton

Your father came home after some mysterious absence all day, shooting marbles, you guessed, or riding around on the street car to put in time. Rather you didn't care. Why should you? You were just like all other children.

You were the only one in the family who had to work. You had to go to school and study lessons and maybe do an errand or two or clean the porch or dry a dish.

EASY LIVES OF OTHERS

You thought, "If people only knew how little girls are abused. If people only knew how little boys are worked to death." Even the teacher with such a cinch, talking when she pleased and not having to march in rank, had one sweet soft time of it in your eyes. Nobody worked but you.

I knew of a father who took his boy to the mill one hot day. He gave him small jobs to do and wouldn't let him stop. From whistle to whistle that tired kid worked. At quitting time he was ready to drop. Too tired to eat dinner, he went straight to bed.

The mother was furious. But the father said nothing.

The next night he talked nicely to his son. "Jim," he said, "did you think yesterday was tough?"

"You bet."

"Well, I work that way every day. That's the way we get dollars to live. If I didn't do that we wouldn't have any clothes or food or movies or even a house like ours to live in."

But even so it is impossible to reveal to children exactly what a problem living is.

No one wants to kill the spontaneous joy of childhood, but the parents who hand life on a silver dish to children without letting them see behind the scenes, the effort it takes, the constant striving and persistence, are not only sowing the seeds of dependence and laziness, but also unhappiness and unpreparedness.

Children of moderately well-to-do and richer families usually work too little. Those of the very poor work too much.

Today, of course, we have to take into consideration the multiple interests outside of school. And their school lessons which seem to pyramid. All these things are work. But they do not teach appreciation of what their parents are doing. Actually the trend today is away from home and home responsibility. I don't know where it is getting us.

"What other stones besides diamonds may be used in engagement rings?" A READER.

Answer—A diamond is the usual engagement ring and to most people the only ring to wear for that purpose. But those who do not care for diamonds or cannot afford them choose semiprecious stones, frequently the birthstone of the bride.

Prevent Runs in Stockings

A snag in a silk stocking usually is a danger signal for a run. If you cannot have it properly mended, but are at home when you notice it, just touch the snag with a little nail polish. This will prevent a run. (Of course it will not be so helpful if it is in a very noticeable place.) It will remain on for several washings, though it is best to catch the run immediately.

THE PUPPY-DOG'S BATH

Never wash friend doggy in cold water; have it lukewarm. After drying with a towel, play with him until he is thoroughly warm and dry before allowing him to lie down for a rest. Dogs get rheumatism just as do a lot of us old fellows.

CITY DENIES FUND MONEY FOR POLICE

Civic Board Says Officers No Right to Share $2,300 Fees

Unwilling to grant members of the Edmonton police force permission to divide among themselves $2,300 paid into the police pension fund from court fees and sale of stolen articles, the civic bylaws committee Wednesday tabled this question.

While council has ruled that the pension fund be discontinued and the monies paid in by members of the force be paid back, the committee was of the opinion that the amount raised through fees and sale of stolen goods should be retained by the city.

Prosecutor Charles Becker, appearing for the police association, argued that while the men had no moral right to the money they had a legal right, as it had been a practice of the department to place fees earned by constables in the fund.

MAYOR CONTESTS

Policemen had no right to this money at all, opined Mayor J. A. Clarke. Such a suggestion was a throw-back to the days when officers received only a nominal salary from the city but were given the right to extra fees paid for court appearances, serving of summonses, etc.

Commissioner David Mitchell suggested that the question be tabled for the time being, as commissioners were considering a scheme for the permanent establishment of a pension fund for the force. He reminded the committee there had been considerable dissatisfaction expressed in city circles three years ago when employes of the police department had divided up an amount of $20,000 among themselves, this sum resulting from payments of fees for various police duties.

BRIDGE PLAN HOIST

No action was taken by the committee on the request by Clover Bar and Beverly residents that the city support them in their application to the provincial government for the construction of a bridge across the Saskatchewan to connect these two districts and provide a shorter route to the city. This item will be considered at a later meeting.

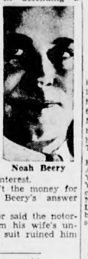
NOAH BEERY WRITES STORY BLASTED CAREER

LOS ANGELES, March 21.—Toppled from his throne as king of the movie villains, Noah Beery detailed in writing Tuesday his own story of a blasted career, but it failed to aid him in defending a doctor's suit for $2,000.



Noah Beery

Beery, unable to afford an attorney, typed the story himself and filed it as an answer to Dr. Ross Moore's suit to collect fees for attending the former actor's estranged wife.

Municipal Judge Ben Jamjamin Scheinman awarded Dr. Moore default judgment for $2,000, plus $589.60 interest.

"Today I haven't the money for living expenses," Beery's answer said.

The former actor said the notoriety resulting from his wife's unsuccessful divorce suit ruined him financially.

Promise Bennett Active Again For Election

OTTAWA, March 21.—Government supporters in the House of Commons and Senate were given positive assurance Wednesday by Sir George Perley that their party chieftain, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, had been given every reason to believe he would be back in his place in parliament within a few weeks.

So far as the best medical opinion could judge, the acting government leader told his colleagues, Mr. Bennett would be able to return to his parliamentary duties before prorogation and would be in condition to lead his party in the general election campaign.

Mr. Bennett will be confined to bed for about another week, according to present progress, and will then seek recuperation at some health resort for about a fortnight.

STRAND

"No animal in the picture was destroyed. Not one was even hurt, and still there was not a trained animal in the whole picture."

This, according to Chester M. Franklin, its director, is the most remarkable thing about "Sequoia" (pronounced "See - Quo - Yah"), Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer's amazing epic of animal life at the Strand theatre.

In this story lies an amazing drama of two years of patience, of rearing wild animals, natural enemies, together so that they became friends, and of one of the most remarkable picture accomplishments in history.

Despite the fact that a lioness is seen in a trap, a doe is apparently killed by an illicit hunter's gun-trap, and others are apparently destroyed by hunters, not a single animal suffered even the slightest injury.

What's What

Question—After Easter I am to be married to a man who does not live here. Upon reaching my new home he is anxious that we send "At Home" cards to his friends, so that we may entertain them. Won't you tell me the procedure to follow, so that there will be no flaw? In that it is to be extremely informal, need there be a reception line? We are to live in a rather small place —bungalow effect. What is usually served at such affairs? What would be an appropriate hour? What decorations would be necessary?

NEOPHYTE.

Answer—The most informal and enjoyable of receptions is an afternoon tea. Wait until your husband's relatives and friends have called on you before you set any date for entertaining them. Then send out your visiting cards ten days in advance of the selected time. In the lower left-hand corner of each card write, for example:

Wednesday, April 24
3 to 5 o'clock.

Have one of your new friends pour tea. Another may pour coffee. Two young girls may pass around tiny sandwiches, cake and ice cream. There is no reception line. Stand near the entrance to greet callers as they arrive and to receive their good afternoons when they leave. Easter flowers will be appropriate decorations.

Question—Please advise whether it is proper in initialing a trousseau to use the girl's initial or the man's.

V. M.

Answer—According to conventional usage, the bride-elect's surname—initial or monogram—is embroidered on her wedding linen.

NO INDICATION OF ANY DESIRE FOR UNION GOVERNMENT

Edmonton Bulletin
AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER IN PUBLIC SERVICE
SECOND SECTION — EDMONTON, ALBERTA—ALBERTA'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER—THURSDAY, MARCH 21, 1935 — PAGE NINE

Attitude Of Parties At Present Time Not Warranting Optimism

Farmer Government's Idea of Co-Operation is to Accept Help as Means of Maintaining Itself as Separate Party, Declares F. C. Moyer, K.C.

Attitude of parties in the legislature to date does not indicate that there is any desire for formation of a union government, but if there is any desire, there is time to take action at this session, declared F. C. Moyer, K.C., Independent house leader, Drumheller, in commenting on the suggestions advanced by U.F.A. members in the house that a union government might be desirable.

D. M. Duggan, provincial Conservative leader pointed out that suggestions he had made on previous occasions for a union government had been rejected by the U.F.A.

Mr. Moyer said, "I do not question the sincerity of the members who have spoken on the question, but I should like to point out that the official attitude of the parties to date does not warrant great optimism."

SEPARATE PARTY

"The farmer government has talked co-operation but its idea of co-operation is to accept calmly any help offered to it as a means of maintaining itself as a party separate from all the rest. The Conservatives have officially offered to co-operate with all 'who think as we do' and the Liberals have remained silent, apparently in the expectation that they needed no help.

"The real non-partisan spirit has not heretofore entered into the consciousness of the members and the most that has been considered is a coalition of certain groups. The present crisis in the affairs of the province is due to the extreme poverty on the one hand and the utter lack of any policy on the part of any political group which would give hope to those who are today in a desperate condition and it may be pertinent to observe that the present discussion comes after the great wave of popularity for Mr Aberhart's plan which, whether sound or not is the only one offering concrete relief.

POLICY OF DRIFTING

"It is an old adage that when the Devil was sick the Devil a saint would be and it may be sheer desperation that has brought home to the members the folly of their own policies of drifting in the expectation of better times.

"The Legislative Assembly Act can be changed right at this session by the legislature if it is sincerely desirous of effecting the necessary changes and it will be interesting to see whether any steps are taken in that direction."

PUBLIC INTERESTS

Mr. Duggan said that the suggestions advanced from the government side of the house regarding union government "may have some political significance in the dying days of the present government, but that fact must be brushed aside and the public interests should and must be the first consideration."

He recalled that other parties had failed to respond to his suggestion of co-operation in handling the affairs of the province, advanced last year and stated that "the Conservative party in this province has given a good deal of time and effort in creating a vigorous and effective organization throughout the province and are now ready to go to battle with complete confidence that there is in this province a large body of people who will subscribe to the policies we have been advocating."

Continuing he stated that even at this late date, he was convinced that "the early solution of our major problems depends on a re-alignment and a fusion on the basis of principle. No overtures or suggestions have been made to us but we stand ready to consider the public interest ahead of that of party."

Fred J. White, provincial Labor leader declared that no overtures had been yet made to the Labor party regarding union government, but if and when they were, they would receive consideration.

SUBJECT FUEL OIL WILL GET RIGID PROBE

Dominion Tariff Commission to Hold Sittings in Calgary

Sittings of the Dominion Tariff Commission will be held at Calgary in May, when the whole subject of fuel oil production, refining and distribution will be investigated, according to Hon. George Hoadley, minister of trade and industry, in speaking to the legislative agricultural committee on Thursday.

The committee, under the chairmanship of A. B. Claypool, U.F.A., Didsbury, was inquiring into the subject of fuel oil.

The subject of the discussion was a resolution, moved by W. G. Farquharson, U.F.A., Ribstone, that the provincial government investigate the possibility of taking over distribution of fuel oil in this province.

TO MEET AT REGINA

Hon. Mr. Hoadley stated that arrangements had been made also for the Tariff Commission to meet at Regina.

At this meeting the whole matter of fuel oil, including export and import of fuel and all associated matters, would be discussed.

He thought that if the government entered the fuel oil field at all, it would have to go further than mere distribution and would have to drill wells, have its own refining plants and generally go in for the subject on a large scale.

J. J. Bowlen, Liberal, Calgary, declared that it would be unnecessary to go further back than refining plants as it was at this stage of the fuel oil progress that costs began to mount.

Hon. Mr. Hoadley stated it might not be necessary for the committee to deal with the Farquharson resolution in view of the Tariff Board's sittings.

BUCK BIG COMPANIES

M. J. Conner, U.F.A., Warner, declared that he had been interested in operating a small oil well in the southern part of the province and if the province contemplated entering the field at all, it must be prepared to buck the powerful companies already doing business.

Hon. Mr. Hoadley thought the solution of the whole problem would be to go into the refining and production, and distribution elements not with a view to large profits but with the idea of giving the best of service to the public.

Hon. G. H. Sedgewick, K.C., of the tariff board was an attendant at the meeting.

The resolution submitted by Mr. Farquharson, as approved by the committee, will be returned to the legislature as a whole for ratification.

Another resolution, submitted by Farquharson, dealing with equalization of freight rates to the coast, was referred back to him for redrafting.

A sub-committee, under the chairmanship of A. L. Sanders, U.F.A., Stettler, heard representations regarding individual relief cases.

Many personal complaints were heard and many relief recipients made statements.

INTERVENTION ASKED

One case stressed by the Unemployed Ex-Servicemen's Association, was that of a returned man, F. Bradley of the Blueridge district. He has a wife and five children. He shot at a female moose and both he and his wife on Thursday were scheduled to appear before a magistrate at Fort Assiniboine. This man received only $10 a month relief for his entire family it was stated.

The returned men asked the intervention of the attorney general in the case before the magistrate dealt with it. They were informed that the course of the law could not now be interfered with, but if a conviction was registered, immediate steps could be taken to appeal.

Other cases of a somewhat similar nature and many cases of a different nature were brought before the committee.

Recommend Charge For Industry Site

Recommendation is being made to city council that a portion of the land required by Canada Packers, Ltd., for its proposed new plant in North Edmonton be ruled as a heavy industrial area, and that an amendment to this effect be added to the zoning bylaw, it was learned Wednesday.

City council will hold a special meeting at 5 p.m. Thursday to deal with this question.

While a part of the site which the company requires is already in the section ruled as a heavy industrial business section by the zoning bylaw, a portion is in the residential area under the existing regulations. The bylaw amendment would make the necessary change for the benefit of the company.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Judge Ben Lindsey, eminent United States jurist, according to recent reports, has stated that he sees an early doom in the marriage institution in the United States. Asking the question: "Do you agree with the opinion of Judge Lindsey?" the Inquiring Reporter gleaned the following opinions:

MISS MARGARET CRANG, barrister: "I certainly think that there is less tendency towards marriage during the present day, but this, I consider, is entirely due to present economic conditions. With our present system it is impossible for young people to find the necessary means to get married and as a result put off taking such a step until they are well over thirty."

* * *

GERALD O'CONNOR, barrister and president of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce: "I don't agree with that opinion at all. There is a vast degree of sensible young people in the United States today and although divorce is made easy in the States, I do not consider that they are in any way giving up the institution of marriage."

* * *

A. L. MARKS, barrister: "I absolutely disagree with Judge Lindsey in this respect. I think that there is a tendency to still further build up all the foundations upon which marriage is built. In addition to this I consider that there are movements towards making marriage much more difficult and therefore it is being entered more seriously. If mistakes are made in marriage, divorce is the best way out and therefore it should be made easy."

Education Urged As Prelude To Reconstruction

Urging extensive education as a prelude to economic reconstruction, Ralph Collins, University of Alberta honors student and winner last year of the Elizabeth Imrie Memorial Scholarship, addressed the regular monthly meeting of the U. of A. Philosophical Society in Convocation hall Wednesday evening.

State of learning in America and Europe was compared by Mr. Collins who spent last summer as a student of international affairs at Geneva. Due to the growth of nationalism in the leading countries of Europe, scholars have a definite goal to work toward and something definite on which to base their knowledge.

"Italians feel no lack of freedom but rejoice in true liberty that comes from guidance. Books and rifles are the outstanding factors in the life of Germans."

The speaker a proponent of internationalism, deplored the growth of nationalism but approved of the benefits to knowledge resulting from it.

Criticizing the study of knowledge wholly for utilitarian purposes, Mr. Collins urged the philosophy of learning for the sake of learning.

Dr. O. S. Aamodt, president of the Society, presided. A general discussion followed on conclusion of Mr. Collins' address. The Wednesday meeting was the final one of a series sponsored by the Society during the past University year.

Claim Canadian Union Not Given Negotiating Right

Claiming that the All-Canadian unions of civic employees had not been given an opportunity of negotiating with city commissioners or council on questions of wages and other matters in the working agreements, John Wilson and J. Walker, officials of the All-Canadian body, conferred with Mayor J. A. Clarke Thursday.

Union representatives were requested to discuss the matter with departmental superintendents and also members of their organizations and arrange a meeting at a later date with commissioners.

All-Canadian organizations point out that the American Federations were permitted to negotiate, and they are asking for the same privilege.

THREE PLANES HOP FROM CITY FOR FAR NORTH

Edmonton airport was a busy hive of activity Thursday morning when three large planes hopped off for the far north.

BRINTNELL SETS NEW AIR RECORD

With a howling March gale on the tail boosting the power from the 650 h.p. motor, Leigh Brintnell appears to have set a new round-trip record on the northern skylines when he landed his huge Bellanca monoplane, Eldorado Radium and Silver Express at the municipal airport at 12:45 p.m. on Wednesday to complete a 2,500-mile flight to and from Cameron Bay.

Leaving here at 9 a.m. Sunday Brintnell's total time in the air for the dash to and from Bear Lake was 15 hours.

The Mackenzie Air Service liner was aloft again at 8:45 a.m. Thursday on its way back to Cameron Bay with Stan McMillan at the controls.

On the record-setting dash the machine brought two tons of radium and silver concentrates from Cameron Bay to the railhead at Fort McMurray. The shipment was made to Eldorado Gold and Silver Mines and there are many more like shipments to be transported before the spring break-up.

On its maiden northern flight the big ship proved her airworthiness in a manner highly pleasing to officials. The weather was highly unfavorable for flying a heavily loaded machine, but the performance of the ship was beyond praise.

Harold Is Not Heartless: Won't Abandon Edmonton

Heartless Harold McMasters, the Unknown Undertaker, took on a new front Wednesday and nervous citizens who may have been startled by his new role, are herein assured that King Kong is still safe and sound in the Hollywood movie studios.

The hairy ape that promenades the chill and windswept boulevards today is not one of Tarzan's African playmates, it's Heartless himself.

Irked at a "social" note that he was leaving this city, which he has amused these many years, to go to Penticton and on to the coast in an athletic show, the Undertaker made it plain Wednesday that it is his art that counts.

"I'm stayin' put right here," explained Heartless, "right here where me art is appreciated. It's took years to get this fan followin' and lots of grief to bring thu dolls around to seein' things my way. I'll have to start all over again if I go away and it'll leave Lefty Ducey on top of the showman heap," concluded the theatre managers' stooge.

TWO WEEKS' BUDGET TALK NOW ENDED

Legislature Proceeds To Handling of $15,000,000 Estimates

Following nearly two weeks of discussion members of the legislature on Wednesday wound up the budget debate and on a division, by a vote of 37 to 20 approved of a motion, moved by Hon. J. Russell Love, provincial treasurer, to proceed with the passage of estimates for the fiscal year commencing on April 1 next.

During the discussion of the estimates, a budget of revenue and expenditure of approximately $15,000,000 will be discussed by the members, which probably will occupy the attention of the house for about one week.

In approving of the motion to grant supply the majority was made up of the U.F.A., supported by the two Labor members in the house, Fred J. White, Calgary, provincial Labor leader, and Andrew Smeaton, Lethbridge, and one Independent, Norman Hindsley, Calgary.

Opposed to the motion were the Liberals in solid formation, led by W. R. Howson, K.C., provincial Liberal leader; the Conservatives, led by D. M. Duggan, provincial Conservative leader, and George E. Cruickshank, Independent, Rocky Mountain.

On Friday, March 8, the budget speech was delivered in the house by Hon. J. Russell Love, provincial treasurer.

Nine sitting days were occupied in discussion, with a total of 31 members speaking. Last year there were only 10 speakers and the debate took only five days. In the 1933 budget debate there were 27 speakers spread over 11 days. In 1932 there were three days occupied by seven speakers and in 1931 a total of 18 speakers took six days.

To Mr. Howson and J. E. Brownlee, K.C., U.F.A., Ponoka, go the distinction of delivering the longest speeches, totalling one hour and 35 minutes each.

ONE-MINUTE MAN

Donald Cameron, U.F.A., Innisfail, is awarded the crown for the shortest speech, lasting only one minute and having been made merely to allow Premier R. G. Reid to speak.

As the debate concluded the house conformed to terms of Hon. Mr. Love's motion and immediately resolved itself into a committee "to grant supply to His Majesty."

One vote in the estimates was passed, that providing for salary to the Lieutenant-Governor's secretary. L. A. Giroux, Liberal, Grouard, moved to have it stricken out, but on a vote being taken by Deputy Speaker Milton C. McKeen, the vote was allowed to stand.

The afternoon saw three speakers contribute to the debate to wind it up, A. P. Mitchell, Liberal, Leduc; A. L. Sanders, U.F.A., Stettler, and Hon. Mr. Love, who closed debate. The minister gave a considerable amount of information over and above that brought down in the budget speech and painted a brighter picture of conditions in Alberta.

Unusual Judicial Procedure Revealed

An unusual judicial procedure was revealed in criminal court here Wednesday at the start of the trial of Steve Leskiw, charged with conversion.

H. A. Mackie, K.C., told Mr. Justice Ford when accused was called for arraignment that his client had desired a speedy trial in the district court at St. Paul but the attorney general had issued an order sending Leskiw before the supreme court.

The matter was explained by His Lordship, who read from section 825 of the criminal code, which provides that a person charged with an indictable offence for which the maximum punishment may be in excess of five years, must have the right to elect where a jury is sitting.

The district court does not summon juries, and the maximum penalty for conversion is 14 years.

Accused then pleaded not guilty and elected for a non-jury trial.

MARRIAGE ACT CHANGE AGAIN IS INTRODUCED

Hoadley Sponsors Bill Providing For Medical Affidavit

Production of an affidavit by each party to a marriage that said party is free from social or other communicable diseases, prior to performance of the marriage ceremony, is provided in a bill to amend the solemnization of Marriage Act, introduced into the legislature by Hon. George Hoadley, minister of health.

Last year the Minister introduced a somewhat similar bill, but did not proceed with it, owing to the feeling that the people might not yet be ready to receive it.

In the meantime, those interested in sponsoring the bill have carried on an educational campaign and many leading professional and social service organizations have put the stamp of approval on the measure.

The medical profession, the Local Council of Women, the Women's Institutes, U. F. A., U. F. W. A., and other organizations have been consulted and have approved of the subject matter.

The amending bill provides that, before a marriage ceremony is performed there shall be produced "a certificate of due publication of banns and in addition an affidavit by each party to the intended marriage, setting out that the party making the affidavit is not then infected with any venereal disease or any other communicable disease."

FOSSILS TO BE PLACED IN NEW "U" MUSEUM

Culminating a dinosaur research expedition in the Red Deer valley field in 1922, several specimens discovered by University of Alberta officials have been mounted and will be displayed to the public shortly in a new museum to be opened in the Arts building.

The Red Deer field is one of the most prolific in the world for dinosaur fossils and specimens derived from it by U. of A. men will make the local museum the third largest of its kind in Canada. Only in Toronto and Ottawa are there bigger displays. More than 50 distinct types of dinosaur remains have been discovered in the central Alberta field and one that is held by the University, the Trobdon validus, is the only one of its type in the world.

Dr. J. A. Allan, head of the University department of geology, has been largely instrumental in collection of specimens for the new museum. C. F. Sternberg, international mounting expert, and his son, Charles, have been reconstructing the fossils on the local campus since Dec. 1 under auspices of the Carnegie foundation. Lack of funds, however, will prevent all available findings from being exhibited until a further grant is obtained.

Outstanding exhibit in the museum will be the completely mounted skeleton of a "Corythosaurus casuarius Brown" commonly known as a duck billed dinosaur. It is 30 feet long and 10 feet high. Geologists estimate its age in the vicinity of 100 to 150 million years as it was found in an upper cretaceous strata. Several other specimens, including the skull of a "Gergosaurus libratus," another type of dinosaur, will be on display.

The museum will be formally opened Thursday next following a lecture in Convocation hall by Mr. Sternberg at 815 p.m. It will be open for public inspection at specified times.

Hon. G. N. Johnston Speaks To Central Church Men's Club

STARVED INTO CRIME FARMER TELLS COURT

Adelard Couthurier Sentenced to 30 Days For Theft of Hay

"Starved into crime," was the underlying theme of a sordid word-picture painted in police court Thursday morning when Adelard Couthurier, destitute farmer of the Gibbons district, appeared on theft charges before Magistrate Col. P. C. H. Primrose. Pleading guilty to theft of two loads of hay worth $16 from a neighboring farm, Couthurier was given 30 days in jail, while his co-defendant, Gwendoline Emmeline Scott, with whom he lived, got suspended sentence.

STARVED FAMILY

An impractical farmer, Couthurier separated from his wife and living with Gwendoline Scott, starved himself, three children and his horses close to the point of death before he undertook the theft.

"They were living in indescribable squalor," said Prosecutor Charles Becker. "No food was in the house, a shack made of mud."

Couthurier had nothing to say himself, but Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers testified he had stolen the hay and attempted to sell it to get money to reach the city.

Because of his relations with Gwendoline Scott, the municipality would give the family no aid. Two of the younger children died of malnutrition and even his poor-conditioned horses proved a boomerang.

LEFT TRAIL OF BLOOD

The woman and the children will be removed from the farm.

Community League To Celebrate On Friday, March 22

Pioneer community league of Edmonton, the Jasper Place and Westgrove league, will commemorate 19 years of service with a celebration taking the form of a concert and dance in the Jasper Place school on Friday evening of this week. The league was formed in 1916.

The Merrymakers concert party will provide a high class brand of entertainment for the large crown expected to attend.

It is expected that President Lloyd Jones and Secretary Treasurer W. C. Deane of the Federation of Community Leagues will be in attendance as well as other federation officials.

Police Court

A length of electric light cord was exhibit "A" when Edward Bouchard, 27, appeared on a charge of attempted suicide and was given a remand by Magistrate Col. P. C. H. Primrose Thursday.

Visiting his girl-friend, Rose Henry at a city rooming house Wednesday, Bouchard had a difference with her. Shortly after he left the residence and later two children found him hanging in the coal shed at the rear and rushed into the house with the alarm. Bouchard was removed unconscious to the Royal Alexandra hospital.

By the time they reached police headquarters shortly before noon both man and woman appeared to have had a change of heart, as Miss Henry stooped in the cell block and removed Bouchard's shoes as he sat slumped and dazed in a chair. Taking it upon herself to minister to his wants, she confined the duty of police to the status of onlookers as she removed his personal belongings from his pockets.

Dust Storms Ruin Kansas, Oklahoma Wheat Crop

LAND-AIR TRAFFIC IS PARALYZED

Confusion, Widespread Damage Follow Five-Day Storms

KANSAS CITY, March 21.—Another major dust storm, causing confusion and widespread property damage, rolled eastward last night across the midwest plains.

Traffic was paralyzed by both land and air. Schools were closed. Business was tied up. Street lights were turned on in mid-day.

Human lives were threatened by traffic dangers and possible suffocation. Stock suffered.

At Palco, Kas., two-months-old Shirley Ann Frazier and her sister Bernita Ann, 13, were reported dead of pneumonia caused by breathing dust a few days ago. A tiny baby's death also was laid to complications resulting from the dust. Warnings were issued widely for residents to remain indoors.

FENCES COVERED

Western Kansas appeared hardest hit, but in south-eastern Wyoming dust was reported so severe as to cover fences. The storms ranged from Western Oklahoma and eastern New Mexico north to South Dakota's Black Hills reaching eastward into Missouri.

The Chicago grain market reacted quickly. Prices mounted as reports told of unestimated damage to crops in the wheat belt. Government experts pointed out the section hit is part of the vast drought area of 1934. They said conditions now parallel those of a year ago.

$10,000,000 WHEAT LOSS

H. G. Duncan, Oklahoma state statistician, estimated general weather damage—including dust, wind and freezing, as 25 per cent of the wheat crop for the entire state and 50 per cent for western Oklahoma. He predicted a loss "of $10,000,000" on wheat. Nebraska experts said the winds of the last five days have damaged winter wheat to such an extent that almost complete reseeding will be necessary.

For the most part, women and children remained in their homes in sections where the storm was worst, using wet sheets and blankets, hung in front of doors and windows, to fight the sifting dust.

In some towns, railroads stationed men with lanterns at street crossings. Kansas highway patrolmen blocked the roads, tieing up travel to forestall accidents.

Canada Ministers Abroad Costly, Figures Show

OTTAWA, March 21.—Hon. W. D. Herridge, Canadian minister to Washington, has received $96,470 from June 1, 1931, to the present, according to a return tabled Wednesday in the house of commons. This amount was for salary and expenses. Mr. Herridge's outlay for entertainment was paid out of that amount.

The total cost of the Canadian legation at Washington in that period was $338,089.

Total cost of the high commissioner's office in London, from Aug. 1930, to Feb. 1935, was $554,273, another return table said. This figure includes salaries and expenses.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, the Canadian high commissioner, has in that period received $161,803, the return said, from which he was obliged to make expenditures for entertainment. Additional sums, however, totalling in the neighborhood of $5,000 were advanced to cover Dominion day receipts.

Mr. Ferguson was appointed on December 18, 1930.

Our King and Queen on their Silver Jubilee

Duchess of York, Edward, Albert and Mary.

THOUGH her official duties as Duchess of York exacted a great deal of time, Queen Mary never permitted herself to slacken for a moment her untiring interest in her home and family.

When the above picture was taken in 1899, the Duke and Duchess, who were soon to be King and Queen, had three children. The picture shows the Duchess with Edward, Albert and Princess Mary.

One does not need to look twice to see the resemblance between the lad standing at the back and the Prince of Wales as we know him today.

Queen Mary lavished every possible attention on her children; there is no doubt that she many times would have preferred to stay at home with them when official engagements called. But she was not one to forget her duties, and much as both she and her husband cherished their children, they nevertheless paid first attention to the demands made upon them by their station in life. Popular everywhere, leader of British society, travelling "ambassadors," they were given all too little time to think of their home life.

In the year this picture was taken (1899) the Duke and Duchess of York made a tour of Ireland. The following year, Prince Henry, now the Duke of Gloucester, was born. In 1901, Queen Victoria died, and in the same year the couple visited many parts of the empire, including Canada, as the Duke and Duchess of York. Later in the year, the Duke was invested as Prince of Wales, Duke of Cornwall, Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick and Baron of Renfrew.

Surely the life of royalty is anything but a peaceful one!

10 BELOW AS SPRING OPENS

The official spring opening day got a raw play from the weather man today as the mercury plunged to 10 below zero at 6 a.m.

However, to compensate for the bad initiation which the season received on this 21st day of March, a rise in temperature was recorded later in the morning and the forecast is "milder."

Yesterday's highest temperature was four above zero. After the low point of 10 below at 6 a.m. today, the mercury held at eight below at 7 and 8 a.m., then jumped to zero at 8:30 a.m., reaching four above at 9 a.m.

A light southerly wind prevailed in the forenoon and the barometer is steady at 27.53.

Viking Boasts 40-Piece Band School Pupils

VIKING, March 21.—Viking has a school band of 40 pieces, something quite unique in village schools of Alberta. The members have been recruited from the fourth grade up to the high school. Under the leadership of T. V. Newlove, the school principal, himself a good musician, the band recently gave their initial concert in the Elks community hall before a large crowd.

Mr. Newlove anticipates making the band one of the outstanding organizations of its kind in the province, and is receiving the cooperation of the community in his efforts to add music to the education of the pupils, and make community life brighter.

Relief Building Program Drawback

OTTAWA, March 21.—Building programs designed to relieve unemployment have drawbacks, Minister of Labor Wesley Gordon advised the house of commons yesterday.

He visualized a government building erected in a country town with attendant publicity. For a time the local situation was improved but in a few days the town became flooded with men from all parts of the country, men who either did not have jobs or whose wages were lower than those paid on the government building.

"I have seen that happen time after time," he said.

Blairmore Penchant For Holidays Cause Of Curbing Move

Town Fiesta for Visit of Tim Buck Noted in Legislature

Granting by the town of Blairmore of a public holiday on Thursday, in honor of the visit to that town, of Tim Buck, Communist, drew fire in the legislature on Wednesday, together with the submission of an amendment to the Town and Village Act restricting the power of a town council to declare a public holiday to the extent that such holidays must be approved by the Minister of municipal affairs.

The legislature has not yet acted on the amendment.

The matter was brought up before the house, sitting in committee of the whole discussing an amending bill to the Town and Village Act.

CELEBRATED RED REVOLT

George E. Cruickshank, Independent, Rocky Mountain, stressed the fact that Blairmore had received more than a fair share of publicity by reason of the granting of a holiday on Nov. 7 last in honor of the start of the Russian revolution and now a holiday had been declared on the occasion of Tim Buck's visit.

"What, Tim Buck-too?" queried Andrew Smeaton, Labor, Lethbridge.

Mr. Cruickshank stated he had received requests to protest this use of holidays and thus was submitting his amendment.

Hugh C. Farthing, K.C., Conservative, Calgary supported Mr Cruickshank. It seemed more than strange to him that the Blairmore children could get a holiday to celebrate these two events, when they could not get one on the occasion of Remembrance Day. "And let members on the other side of the house laugh that off," he said.

NO REASON IN IT

"I can see no necessity of celebrating in this country, a big event in another country, by use of a general holiday," he said. "People of the United States do not expect us to declare a holiday on July 4 and yet they carry on their celebrations and I have joined in with them. But, it must be remembered that such a celebration is not general in this country and therefore I see no reason why there should be a holiday in this country for such occasions as Blairmore has declared them."

Hon. Perren Baker could not see why the town could not grant holidays as it saw fit. Hon. Hugh W. Allen, minister of lands and mines, said that it would be placing a heavy burden on the department and that already it had come under much criticism for intervening too much in municipal jurisdiction.

In the end the amendment was stood over on the suggestion of Premier R. G. Reid and it will be definitely dealt with at a later date.

The house also advanced several other acts in the committee stage.

Here truly is activity which is so completely behind the scenes that it escapes the notice of even the hundreds of writers who daily grind out reams of copy about the nation's fourth largest industry.

Yet no account of the inner workings of a studio would be complete unless it included a midnight survey.

• • •

To find out just what does go on during the still night hours, I dropped by the Paramount studio. Hovering around the side entrance, the only one open, were about 50 men, all hoping to get a few hours' work. Some were gathered around a couple of little camp fires. Others just sat and talked while smoking cigarettes down so far they almost blistered their fingers.

These men arrive around six o'clock and remain until midnight—unless a job turns up. Then they work all night. Sometimes there is enough work for all. Other nights only a handful are fortunate.

A light in the makeup department attracted me. Four men were busy stirring quantities of body makeup in five-gallon jars, mixing a concoction of collodion and cutting strips of fish skin.

"We are going to need a lot of fish skin and collodion to put scars on the soldiers in 'The Crusades' tomorrow," explained Wally Westmore, head of the department.

In an adjoining room several girls were working on wigs, cleaning them, combing out the knots, curling some and changing the hairdress on others.

THAT FIRST BRANCH BANK AND 500 MORE

The founders of the Bank of Montreal firmly believed in branch banking. Two weeks after opening the Bank in Montreal on November 3rd, 1817, the directors appointed an agent at Quebec. By the following June the agency was made an "Office of Deposit and Discount," and thus the first branch came into being. Two others soon were created—at Kingston and York (afterward Toronto).

Those early bankers sought to extend and perpetuate for the farmers and merchants, the benefits and stimulus of a branch banking system the worth of which had been abundantly proved in the British Isles.

Thus they introduced one of the elements of elasticity for which the Canadian banking system has received so much praise.

Consistently, throughout the decades, the Bank of Montreal has added branches wherever business warranted, giving to new and growing communities the advantages of banking strength, ample facilities and sound management. Today over 500 branches are serving Canada. Each branch is the Bank of Montreal, with all the facilities and public service for which the institution is known.

From the first branch in Quebec to the most recent one opened, the spirit of the Bank of Montreal is expressed—and will continue to be expressed—in terms of useful banking.

Toronto All-Stars Trounce Sudbury

TORONTO, March 21.—Toronto All-Stars, champions of the senior "A" Ontario Hockey Association, ran roughshod over the Sudbury senior Northern Ontario champions, to rout them 12-0 here last night in the first game of their two-game total-goal series, the winner advancing into the Allan Cup playdowns.

The second game, scheduled here Saturday night, may be defaulted, it was learned. Definite announcement will be made today.

BEEF PRICES IN EDMONTON ON UPTREND

Price Almost Doubled in Last Six Months Local Butchers Say

Beef prices in Edmonton are steadily advancing. According to butchers, beef has almost doubled in price during the last six months. A shoulder roast in October last year cost from five to eight cents a pound. Now it sets the buyer back from eight to 12 cents.

The Edmonton housewife could buy sirloin steak at two pounds for 20 cents six months ago. Now it costs 20 cents a pound. Lamb prices are climbing also. Leg of lamb costs 20 cents a pound. Six months ago it was 12 cents. Lamb shoulders have advanced about six cents, from eight to 14 cents. And indications are that prices will be higher.

Pork climbed last year and is holding to its higher prices. A shoulder roast costs 15 cents a pound now, where six months ago it was eight cents. A leg of pork has advanced from 11 to 17 cents a pound.

Pork sausage sizzles in the pan now at the cost of 15 to 20 cents a pound. Six months ago it was this "bagged meat" could be had two pounds for twenty-five cents. Bacon prices have advanced too—from 10 cents per half pound package to 18 and 20 cents for top class meat.

By and large, staple groceries are showing little if any raise in price, while fish prices have shown no disposition to move upward.

MISS ANN LONG DIES AT AGE 79

Resident of the Namao district since 1884 and a life member of the Northern Alberta Pioneers' and Old Timers' association, Miss Elizabeth Ann Long, died at the home of her nephew in the Namao district, Monday.

Born at Meaford, Ont., in 1856 she came to Calgary and from there to Namao by buckboard, when her brother's wife died, leaving him with a baby son, now A. W. Long of Namao, with whom she lived until her death.

Active in affairs of the church and district, she was a member of the Methodist church and later of the United Church of Canada, being a charter member of the ladies aid, the women's missionary society and for many years president of the British and Foreign Bible Society in the Namao district. She was one of the first Sunday school teachers in the Sturgeon valley.

Three sisters, Mrs. I. Knight and Mrs. R. B. Rogers, of Woodford, Ont., and Mrs. M. Carlander, of Seattle, survive her.

Funeral services are to be held Saturday at 2:00 p.m. from the Namao United church, with interment in the Namao cemetery. Rev. J. N. Brunton will officiate.

Business Needs To Revert To Serving

"What business needs most" was the subject chosen by Francis J. Gable, Kansas City, editor of "Good Business" magazine, during an address given at the regular monthly meeting of the Rotary Club held in the Macdonald Thursday noon, under the chairmanship of C. D. MacKenzie.

Outlining the needs in business today, Mr. Gable stated that there was a need to go back to the original purpose of serving in business. Today, he stated, people were obsessed with the mechanics of business only.

Competition today, said Mr. Gable, was quite different from that of former years. Before, there was competition between the same types of business only, but nowadays there was rivalry not only between similar businesses but between different industries.

Mr. Bennett's rest cure has been interrupted for more than a week, terupted for more than a week but it was the intention to have him continue the rest cure in bed until next week.

STOCKS PUSH AHEAD AT N. Y.

NEW YORK, March 21.—The stock market pushed up vigorously in the final hour today under aggressive demand for long-depressed utilities.

Early irregularity in all divisions was supplanted by firmness when a variety of rumors affecting utilities were circulated in brokerage circles and leading shares were run up as much as 2 points before yielding a slight portion of the gain in the final few minutes. The closing tone was firm. Transfers aggregated 680,000 shares.

MINE SECTION TORONTO MART CLOSES FIRMER

TORONTO, March 21.—Following a ragged early demonstration, the mining section of the Toronto Exchange firmed up in the last hour today on the leadership of New York. The rally erased the bulk of the losses in the senior and secondary gold groups and chalked up net gains in spots. The base metal and silver issues also closed strong.

Lake Shore held steady at $57 while McIntyre, Wright Hargreaves, Dome and Teck Hughes sold down around mid-day. The group was slightly higher at the close.

Little Long Lac closed at 5.55, down 5 cents. Other issues making up early dips were Sylvanite, McWatters, Central Patricia, Coniarum and Reno. God's Lake closed about 5 cents off.

Broomhall

CHICAGO, March 21. — Reliable grain men say that the winter wheat is dead in Kansas west of Dodge City. This seems an exaggeration to easterners, but this has been mentioned in more than one report.

The international wheat level is advancing. Liverpool October wheat made a new high yesterday at 52s 4¾d equal to 77½c a bushel. B. A. wheat made a new high on the crop for the May option. The nearby positions, however, in Liverpool and Rotterdam, are still far below the season's high prices.

Liverpool reported sales yesterday of No 1 Manitoba Atlantic afloat at 32s 3d, Vancouver 31s 10½d, Vancouver loading 31s 8d, Rosa Fe 63½ pounds August shipment sold at 24s 7½d duty paid.

LATE-SESSION SELLING PARES DOWN ADVANCES

WINNIPEG, March 21.—Late-session selling whittled early advances of wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, but the tone of the market remained bullish. Values closed ⅛ cent higher, May at 84⅛ and July 83⅝ cents.

All outside grain markets moved ahead. Coincident with steadily-rising prices at Liverpool, West Australian wheat today was only 11⅝ cents under Canadian prices.

After a hesitant start, Chicago surged upward, wheat at one time showing one-cent gains. Corn prices, however, declined about a cent. Liverpool closed ⅝-½d higher and Buenos Aires at noon was ⅜-½ cent advanced.

Export sales of Canadian wheat were estimated at between 300,000 and 400,000 bushels.

Whitney Letter

NEW YORK, March 21—The market yesterday presented a mildly encouraging picture while the grain market in Chicago was open, which is according to Hoyle, for grain prices were advancing and such a development invariably imparts strength to security prices even though, as was the case yesterday, the advance in grains was attributed to reports of dust storms which actually involve the destruction of capital wealth, about which there is never anything bullish.

Although it may be said with a fair degree of accuracy that the market showed distinct advancing tendencies until 2 o'clock when selling in the tobacco shares in particular depressed prices, and an examination of the day's prices will reveal that the advancing movement was not a general broad advancing movement for there were innumerable issues that were declining throughout the day and the rails, upon whom many pin their hopes, never participated in the advancing movement at any time, I see no reason for any revision of the market procedure here as yet. I therefore caution you about buying stocks.

D'ATS and PANS by —BILL LEWIS

Unnecessary penalties, and, possibly meeting a better team on last night's play, sent Ira Stuart's Superior's down to a crushing 6-3 defeat in the second game against North Battleford Beavers at Saskatoon last night . . . Defeat to the "Soops" places the best-of-three-game series deadlocked at one win each and the third and deciding game is scheduled for Friday night at Saskatoon . . .

For a time it was thought the series would be completed on artificial ice at Winnipeg, but with a sudden drop in temperature E. A. Gilroy, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, ruled Saskatoon ice was in splendid condition for the third and deciding game . . . Although beaten last night by a 6-3 score, the "Soops" still have a great chance of taking the series, providing of course, they can stay on the ice . . . Their unnecessary infractions of the rules last night played a big part in their defeat, allowing the winners to score half their total of six goals . . . up until two Superior players were serving time in the cooler "Soops" battled their opponents on even terms, keeping the score two all, but those two costly fouls paved the way for a brace more markers to the Beavers . . .

Determined the "Grads" will retain their basketball laurels, Coach Percy Page will try a new experiment when the perennial city, provincial, Canadian, international and world champion Grads take the floor against Calgary "Beavers" at the McDougall gym Saturday night . . . It will be the first game of a home-and-home series between the two teams, both opening their campaign for provincial honors . . .

The working out of this experiment—that of substituting an entire team for another—will be watched with a great deal of interest by local fans . . . For those who are not familiar with the location of the Commercial high school, it may be stated that it is located in the Hudson's Bay reserve, just west of the Armories, between 107th and 108th Streets. . . .

A record-breaking exhibition game crowd saw the first of the Ruth-Dean rivalry . . . It took place in the training camps at St. Petersburg, Florida, and, that great crowd saw the big bambino make two great but futile gestures . . . Facing Dean's hurling the Babe lifted one long fly to a Card outfielder posted deep in the outer gardens . . . Ruth hit the same distance on his third time up, but this time against Hallahan's curves . . . Both would have been home runs in many major league parks . . . It's just the start of the rivalry, however, and there will be a lot of action when Cardinals meet Braves in regular league clashes during the long baseball campaign.

Commercial Grads Are Preparing For Calgary Five Here

Will Play Guard For Grad Five

GLADYS FRY

When the Commercial Grads take the floor on Saturday night against the Calgary "Beavers", the fans will be interested in watching the result of the switch whereby "Smiling Glad" Fry appears as a guard, instead of at centre. Fans who have followed the Grad workouts during the past several weeks are loud in their praises of Glad's work in her new position.

Drill Against Younger Sister Team Before Game Saturday

Putting the finishing touches on their pre-season workouts for their long siege ahead, the Commercial Grads, perennial city, provincial, Canadian, international and world champions, will run through a practice game against the Gradettes tonight, and will then rest up for a couple of days before tackling the latest Calgary aspirants for the provincial championship—the Hudson's Bay Beavers.

The first game of a home-and-home series will take place in the McDougall Commercial high school gym on Saturday night, starting promptly at 8.30. On account of the limited accommodation, the game will be broadcast over station CFRN but the early birds may be able to secure a seat at Mike's—the entire allotment of 165 tickets having been placed on sale this morning.

SUB ENTIRE TEAM

With a squad of nine players, Coach Page will probably follow his practice inaugurated during the last few weeks, and field practically two entirely different teams. On the one team, Margaret MacBurney and Babe Belanger will take the forward positions, while Gladys Fry and Doris Neale will hold down the guard positions. On the other team will be seen three newcomers. On the forward line will be two of the smallest players ever to wear the Grad uniform—Helen Northup and Sophie Brown. As guards, Mabel Munton will be supported by another coming star in the person of Etta Dann—said to be one of the fastest players on the Grad line-up. Noel MacDonald, who stopped the great Alberta Williams in the series against Tulsa last June, will hold down the centre position for both line-ups, although Glad Fry will be available for relief duty at any time..

AMATEUR MAT JOUSTS HELD AT "Y" GYM

Six Local Grapplers Will Go To Calgary For Finals

Six outstanding performers will compete in the provincial tournament at Calgary, it was decided last night following the amateur wrestling tournament for Northern Alberta honors. The bouts, all enjoyed by a fair attendance of wrestling fans, were held in the "Y" gym and under the auspices of the Edmonton Amateur Boxing and Wrestling Association.

The six wrestlers chosen to compete in the finals at Calgary on April 1 and 2 were Jim Park, 123 pounds, Gordon Garry, 134 pounds, Jack Garry, 145 pounds, Jack Buzovetskey, 158 pounds, Fred Bunka, of Leduc, weighing 174, and Paul Smollen, also of Leduc and weighing 191 pounds. Owing to the sickness of Pat Meehan, Dominion and international heavyweight champion, the heavy division will not be represented in the finals.

HOW THEY WON

Park was chosen after taking a verdict over Johnny Lindsay in the opening bout. Both are from the "Y" club and gave a pleasing performance. Gordon Garry won his bout against Mickey Nichols while brother Jack was beating Howard Orriss. Jack Buzovetsky won over L. Jacobson and Fred Bunka and Paul Smollen of Leduc took decisions over R. Borgal and Rolf Vollan, respectively.

COMPLETE RESULTS

The complete results of the card are as follows:

1. 123 lbs. Jimmy Parks, "Y," won decision over Johnny Lindsay, "Y."

Oldest Checker Player Is Dead

NEW YORK, March 21.—Robert Fraser, one of the oldest tournament checkers players in North America died yesterday in Brooklyn. He was 97 years old.

Fraser was formerly an expert checkers player in Toronto, where he was secretary of the Toronto Checkers Club.

Leads All Scorers

Charlie Conacher, leader of Toronto Maple Leaf's potent scoring "kid line," again topped scorers in the National Hockey League. This season he bettered last year's mark by five points, having a grand total of 57 comprised of 36 goals and 21 assists.

Glenn Cunningham Sets New Record In One Mile Race

HAMILTON, Ont., March 21.—Glenn Cunningham, the Kansas man with the barrel chest and stout legs, and slender Gene Venzke of Pennsylvania brought their one-sided mile-running show to the 91st Highlanders A.A. indoor track championships last night and Cunningham established a new Canadian record of four minutes, 16.6 seconds for the distance.

It was just a minor record for the great middle-distance runner, holder of five world marks, indoor and out, and once again it was merely a matter of finishing in front of Venzke. Les Wade of Montreal, holder of the previous Canadian record of 4.18, was fourth to Cunningham, Venzke and Bill Daly of University of Detroit.

Stella Walsh, great Polish sprinter, and Ray Lewis of Hamilton scored outstanding triumphs in the games that attracted big entries before Cunningham took over.

Miss Walsh won girls' sprint events at 40 and 60 yards and Lewis, former Olympic and British Empire games star, romped off with a fine win at 600 yards over an international field.

Lewis uncovered a great sprint to finish in one minute, 15.8 seconds, more than two seconds short of record time, defeating C. Roesch of Buffalo, who was second, and Harry Hall of University of Detroit, third.

TEBO'S CONDITION STILL CRITICAL

SEATTLE, March 21.—Jack Tebo, 24-year-old Canadian heavyweight boxer who collapsed after losing on a technical knockout in a fight here Tuesday night, was described as still in a critical condition last night at the Harborview Hospital, although he had regained consciousness during the day. He was suffering from a severe head injury.

No crisis may be expected in such a case, attendants said, but a slow and gradual improvement should follow if he does not take a turn for the worse.

Rules Increasing Score For Pro Hockey Needed

Changes Would Include Wider Nets, Ban on "Golfing" Puck

By FRANK FREDRICKSON

Defensive play and low-scoring games long have been the chief source of unpopularity with hockey enthusiasts.

Frank Fredrickson

Customers at professional games lay their cash on the line to see action and plenty of it. They jeer kitty-bar-the-door tactics and such safety-first methods as "golfing the puck," as they term it in the eastern states. They whoop when the twine is rattled. The more it is rattled, the merrier the spectators.

If I were lord and master of the National Hockey League I would make two rule changes in the interests of the box office. Neither of them, I am sure, would meet with the approval of the goal-tenders.

First of all I would introduce a regulation against "golfing the puck" out of the defensive zone, especially when a team is short-handed. Such methods slow up a game no end and eliminate what might well be the high spots of the show. I would advocate a rule whereby the puck must be carried out of the defensive zone, or possibly caromed from the boards over the blue line. Then, when a team happened to be short-handed, it would be in a tough spot. No end of action would result, and win, lose or draw, the onlookers would get their money's worth.

As a second move to increase drama and general excitement, I would widen the goals by one foot. It would be tough on the pad-wearers, of course, but sharpshooters would be given a greater opportunity to score from angles. Deadlocks, usually the height of boredom in any hockey game, would be rarer than a hungry amateur.

Lester Patrick

No matter how many changes are made in modern hockey rules, there's always a method of defence for every method of offence. A supposedly sure-fire scoring play usually becomes just another manoeuvre. Strategy on the attack never will overcome a determined defence. In order to open the game, the defence must be shackeled by rules rather than rushes. Not that I believe present-day professional hockey is hard to watch. Far from it. The modern game, as evolved by the Patrick brothers, is proving its worth in customer interest.

But no game is above improvement. Compared to some sports, professional hockey is still in its swaddling clothes. We all are experimenting, and eventually we hope to present hockey at its greatest point of appeal. It is a problem that will not be solved in one season.

Montreal Seniors Greatly Superior

MONTREAL, March 21.—The difference between senior and intermediate hockey was clearly outlined last night when Montreal Royals, senior champions of Quebec, scored a 10-1 victory over St. Jerome, intermediate titleholders of the province, in the first of a best-of-three series for the right to advance in Allan Cup play. The second game is scheduled on Friday.

Hoop Champions Go To Olympics

HALIFAX, March 21—Announcement that the 1936 Canadian senior men's basketball champions will represent the Dominion in the Olympic games at Berlin, was made last night by C. G. Harris, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association.

Locals Beaten By 6-3 Score As Penalties Prove Costly: Grove Gets Superiors' Goals

North Battleford Sets Blistering Pace Throughout Game and Triumph After Fine Scoring Spree

PLAY AGAIN ON FRIDAY NIGHT

By BILL LEWIS

SASKATOON, March 21.—Skating at a blistering pace, and never once letting up on their relentless checking, North Battleford Beavers raced to a 6-3 triumph over Edmonton Superiors here Wednesday night, and thus squared their Western Canada senior hockey semi-final series at one win each.

Superiors had won the opener on Monday night by a 2-1 score, but the triumph of Beavers last night brought them up on even terms with the Alberta champions and forced a third game to decide the club to meet Port Arthur for the western championship.

The third game will be played here on Friday with the winners then returning to their homes before going on to Winnipeg to face the standard-bearers from Thunder Bay.

LIGHTNING-FAST ICE HELPS GAME

Last night's game was played on lightning-fast ice, brought about by a bitterly cold wind that seemed to come right off the shores of the Arctic. There had previously been a lot of rumors that the balance of the series might be moved to Winnipeg but any doubts in this regard were removed Wednesday morning when E. A. Gilroy, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, arrived here to find the temperature dropping at a great rate. Thus both clubs were eminently satisfied with the surface when they skated on to start the second contest of their play-off last night.

HAD GREAT SPEED

The Beavers, showing unlimited speed both on the attack and defence, gained their victory through consistent use of this method of play, racing up and down the ice at a break-neck pace from start to finish. Helping them, of course, were repeated needless penalties incurred by Ira Stuart's aggregation. A number of the "Soops" drew penalties when there was absolutely no good to be gained by their infractions of the rules and these hurt their chances aplenty.

However, there was no denying North Battleford's right to the win. They were always the aggressors, proved to be an entirely different outfit than the one which took a beating Monday, and never once looked back after securing the lead early in the first period.

TOOK 2-1 LEAD

The Saskatchewan titleholders jumped in front 2-1 in the opening frame, increased this to 5-2 by the end of the second, and then played even with the Soops in the last stanza when each squad scored a goal to finish at 6-3.

O'Keefe, Davy Duchak and Burke were the big shots of the winners attack, each netting a pair of goals. Quite a coincidence in this regard, too, was the fact that O'Keefe scored the first two, Duchak the next two and Burke the final pair.

Standing out as the shining ace of the Superior attack was Lowell "Lefty" Grove, who drove in all three of their counters, the first unassisted and the others on passes from Jimmy Anderson and Joe Brown.

PLENTY EXCITEMENT

There was plenty of excitement to the contest, although the three goals Beavers scored in the second session pretty well quashed any hopes for an Edmonton victory. One of the most exciting occasions came when Goalie Davis, of North Battleford, was penalized a minute for tripping Grove as he crossed in front of the nets. The same Grove scored while he was off and the game had to be stopped for some minutes while the ice was cleaned of the peanuts thrown by supporters of the Saskatchewan team. It was a tough call to make in a playdown game but the trip was so obvious that Referee Clarence Campbell could do nothing else but penalize the goalie.

The Soops were charged with six penalties during the encounter, while four were meted out to the Beavers.

Both teams started cautiously, and there was not a single danger-

BOSS CRONIN PLACES HOPES IN PITCHERS

Mighty Hurling Arms To Decide Fate of Red Sox This Season

SARASOTA, Fla., March 21.—The once mighty arms of Robert Moses Grove, Wesley Ferrell and George Pipgras hold the answer to the question whether multi-millionaire Tom Yawkey bought widely and well enough to put Boston Red Sox in the American League pennant picture this year.

The Red Sox will carry nine or 10 pitchers, including Fritz Ostermueller, and Rube Walberg. With Grove in shape, this gives them three crack southpaws. The right-handers, headed by Ferrell, are Pipgras, who was out with an elbow injury last year, Dusty Rhodes, Henry Johnson, Johnny Welch and young Jack Wilson.

With a swift, clouting outfield, a top ranking catcher in Rick Ferrell, brother of Wes, a brilliant third baseman in young Bill Werber, and himself at short, Cronin has only one other problem and he doesn't believe that's a problem at all.

Max Bishop, veteran second baseman who looked near the end of the trail last season, has been a revelation in spring training. He has been hitting well and fielding the same way.

BROMWICH BEATS BOLTON BY 2-0

STOKE, England, March 21.—West Bromwich Albion yesterday dissipated any hope Bolton Wanderers entertained of playing at Wembley Stadium next month in the final for the English soccer cup, by defeating the plucky Second Division outfit 2-0 in a semi-final replay. West Bromwich will meet Sheffield Wednesday, another First Division club, for the coveted trophy.

The Wanderers and West Bromwich battled to a 1-1 draw last Saturday and in the second game the First Division club practically clinched the play-off berth in the first half, scoring twice. The Wednesday eliminated Burnley, the other second division threat, 3-0, at Birmingham last Saturday.

CHARLIE CONACHER AGAIN TOPS N.H.L. SCORERS

LEAF WINGER PACE-SETTER ALL SEASON

Betters Record of Last Year by Five Points With 57 Total

MONTREAL, March 21.—Charlie Conacher, league-leading scorer, heads the most potent scoring line in the National Hockey league as the powerful Toronto Maple Leafs swing Saturday into the league championship series against Boston and the Stanley cup elimination.

The grown up "Kid Line" of Conacher, Harvey Jackson and Joe Primeau, it was shown in final figures for the regular scheduled games issued tonight, amassed 131 points in 48 games, through 68 goa s and 63 assists.

Conacher, giant right wing, leads the entire league both on goals and points, his second year in succession in the top spot. He ran his goal total to 36, his assists to 21 and his 57 points are five more than the total by which he topped the league last season.

HOWE SENSATIONAL

One of the most sensational advances of the season was scored by Syd Howe, purchased late in the season by Detroit Red Wings from St. Lou's. He wound up the season in possess'on of the leadership in the United States section and second place in the entire league, with 22 goa's, 25 assis's. His teammate, Larry Aurie, a right winger, was second in the sect'on, third in the league, with 17-29—46. Frankie Boucher, of New York Rangers, centre of the Canadian Press all-star front line of Conacher and Jackson, follows with 13-32—45 and Jackson is next with 22-22—44. Completing the "Big Seven" are Herb Lewis, Detroit, and Art Chapman, New York Americans, each with 43 points.

BEST ROOKIE

The best rookie of the year, Calgary's Dave Schriner of New York Americans, selected for that title by a vote of newspapermen, placed high up the list with 40 points, 18 goa's, 22 assists. The leading defenceman was Eddie Shore of Boston Bruins, by a wide margin. He scored 7 goals and 26 assists in heading Bruins' power plays.

Red Horner's 125 minutes left no argument as to the highest penalized player.

HI-School HI-Lights ON SPORT

By CHARLES TODD

With the bantam and senior titles distributed, it leaves only the junior crown to find a wearer. There is a seventy to thirty chance that Victoria will be that wearer.

Guess what happened last night? You're right! The junior hockey playdowns between Scona Commercial and Victoria was postponed because it was too cold. This series has been hanging in fire for more than two weeks now because it has been too warm. What a pair of teams!

They will defy all of the elements of nature Friday morning and will skate out onto the King Edward rink at nine-thirty for the first game of their home and home series, total goals to count.

Neither squad has had a chance to do any practising to get in form. The north side pucksters have had a two-week lay over. Scona Commercial fared little better, getting only one game, and that being last week against the Scona seniors for the Harris cup.

Wednesday being an off day for this column, the story of the Eastwood-Victoria bantam final was carried in last night's sport page in the regular manner. In case you missed it, Victoria tumbled the Eastwoodites 6-1, taking the series and city title by a round score of 6-2.

With the senior girls' cage title already stored away in mothballs from last year, McDougall Commercial were not even forced to open the lid to look at it when they easily retained it again this season.

Definite arrangements have been made to have the girls' junior cage playoffs between McDougall Commercial and Garneau staged on a neutral floor, the Victoria gym. The contest is billed for Tuesday after four and will be a sudden death affair.

The Page lassies will enter the fray overwhelming favorites because they had little difficulty in taking Victoria out of the north side league. Victoria on the other hand, trounced Garneau in an exhibition game recently.

Plans for a final badminton tourney after Easter are being launched around the Victoria club. They are almost through with their season and still have more than enough birds left on hand to sponsor a tournament.

With those well known Easter exams chasing the athletes from the gym and rink to their room to study, this column will wind up next Saturday for a lay over during Easter. It will contain special comments and a resume of all major sporting events since last Christmas.

Sudbury Leads Oshawa Juniors

TORONTO, March 21.—A sensational four goal scoring splurge in the last period here last night gave Sudbury Cub Wolves a 4-3 victory over Oshawa Majors in the first game of their Memorial Cup elimination series. The second game of the best two-of-three series will be played here Saturday afternoon.

SEATTLE BEATS VANCOUVER 4-1

SEATTLE, March 21.—The hard driving Seattle Sea Hawks tied the speedy Vancouver Lions up in knots last night and raced to a 4 to 1 win in the opening game of the championship playoffs of the Northwestern Hockey League.

Maintaining the superiority showed all season, which gave them five victories and two ties out of ten games against their British Columbia opponents, Hawks were never in danger tonight after tallying two rapid-fire goals in the first two minutes of play. The win gave them a good start in the three out of five playoff series, with the next game at Vancouver Friday night.

Bearing down all the way, on the advice of Manager Frank Foyston against any more "light checking," Hawks kept Lions out of scoring territory most of the night's play. The game, however, was cleanly played, not a penalty being called by the two officials.

Native Sons Rink Wins Trochu 'Spiel

TROCHU, March 21.—A rink under the "Native Sons" colors won the novelty bonspiel held here over the week-end when they knocked thirteen other specially chosen and named rinks out of the tourney. Some really good curling was mixed up with the fun.

The following were the complete draws. Oatmeal Savages defeated Maritimers; Canucks defeated Social Crediters; Irish defeated Eastern Ontario; New Canadians defeated Americans; Scotch won by default from the Germans; Native Sons defeated the English. Swedes and Western Ontario got byes.

Second round: Swedes defeated Western Ontario; Oatmeal Savages defeated Irish; Canucks defeated New Canadians; Native Sons defeated the Scotch. Fours: Oatmeal Savages defeated the Swedes; Native Sons defeated the Canucks. Finals: Native Sons defeated the Oatmeal Savages.

GRAND RACE TO HAVE 28 FINAL ENTRY

Grand National Field Takes Definite Form as Entries Cut

LONDON, March 21.—The field for the Grand National Steeplechase, to be run March 29, took on definite shape today with the final acceptances, cutting the entries down to 28.

Tom Wall's crafty Alice was about the only one of the better regarded candidates dropped from the list, which at first contained 60 entries. Canada's first challenger—the English-bred Trocadero, owned by Gordon Perry of Toronto—was left in, as were six horses entered by United States owners.

The final acceptors with jockeys and weights are as follows: (x indicates gentleman rider):

FINAL ACCEPTORS

Golden Miller (Wilson, 175 lbs); Thomond II (Speck, 167); Royal Ransom (——, 162); Reynoldstown (x-Noel Furlong, 158); Delaneige (Moloney, 158); Southern Hero (Fawcus, 154); Brienz (Kidney, 154); Really True (Morgan, 153); Bachelor Prince (O'Grady, 150); Castle Irwell (x-Pete Bostwick, 150); Ballybrack (x-Capt. Payne-Gallwey, 147); Blue Prince (Parvin, 147); Brave Cry (x-J. C. Lewis, 147); Emancipator (x-P. V. Cazalet, 147); Fouquest (——, 147); Huic Holloa (Ward, 147); Jimmy James (Nicholson, 147); Lazy Boots (——, 147); Master Orange (x-Beloe, 147); Princess Mir (x-D. A. Jackson, 147); Red Park (Fitzgerald, 147); Slater (Maxwell, 147); Southern Hue (Duggan, 147); Tapinois (Gurney, 147); Trocadero (Cullinan, 147); Theras (Owen, 147); and Uncle Batt (Robson, 147).

BETTING ODDS

As the list of acceptors brought no surprises, no shakeup is anticipated in the betting odds.

Golden Miller, Dorothy Paget's big gelding, remained firm at 4 to 1 despite last week's close brush with Thomond II, which continues second choice in the betting at 15 to 2.

Tapinois at 9 to 1; Delaneige and Really True at 18 to 1; and 20 to 1 on Reynoldstown and Southern Hero, the latter the pace setter for most of the way in the Cheltenham Gold Cup, complete the first flight.

RUTH'S GESTURES FUTILE IN BATTLE AGAINST DEAN

Babe Makes Two Grand Efforts But Fails on Both Efforts

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 21.—Two magnificent but futile gestures yesterday by Babe Ruth marked the occasion of his first duel with the renowned Dizzy Dean under circumstances unprecedented in the annals of Florida's spring "grapefruit league."

Babe Ruth

For the benefit of a record-breaking exhibition game crowd of 6,467 fans, the big bambino cracked out two line drives that would have been home runs in many major league grounds. On his first turn at bat against Dean, Ruth drove into deep centre for a 350-foot smash that Gene Moore took, then after fouling out against Dizzy in the fourth, he cracked one of Wild Bill Hallahan's curves to the crowd near the left-field fence. Red Worthington was playing deep enough to bag that shot and Ruth then retired for the afternoon.

Dizzy Dean

The fact the world champion St. Louis Cardinals finally nosed out Boston Braves 5-4 was entirely subordinate to the first spring showing of the Ruth-Dean rivalry. Dean held the Babe hitless and the Braves runless for the five innings he worked, but he was outpitched by Huck Betts, Boston right-hander, who yielded only one hit, Joe Medwick's double, while Dizzy was being touched for three safe blows.

WALLACE TOPS WELTER CLASS BEATING BLAND

Vancouver Fighter Sits Today on Throne by Fine Decision

VANCOUVER, March 21.—Gordon Wallace, 24-year-old Vancouver fighter who took to the logging camps a couple of years ago in an effort to build up the stamina necessary to stand the rigors of ring warfare, today sat on the Canadian welterweight throne to give the far west its first Dominion champion in that rank.

Wallace reached the top of Canada's welters last night when he gained a 12-round decision over rugged Tommy Bland of Toronto in a bout which the Canadian boxing federation had sanctioned as for the title.

NOT IMPRESSIVE

The Vancouver fighter's victory was not impressive but he managed to get the call of the two judges and referee through his harder punching. Bland landed more blows but they were mostly light. The easterner, however, proved much the better boxer as he bobbed and weaved under vicious smashes or tied his opponent up in the clinches. A proof of his boxing ability was the fact that not once during the 12 rounds did Wallace land a clean blow to the chin.

Last night's fight gave Canada her first welter champion in three years. The title has been vacant since 1932 when the C.B.A. ordered Jackie Phillips of Toronto, then champion, to defend it against Billy Townsend of Vancouver and the easterner forfeited his crown by refusing.

MORE ABOUT SUPERIORS

ous chance in the first five minutes of play. The first came to Joe Brown when he raced in close on a grand rush but was unable to get his shot away.

Finally after six minutes and 25 seconds of action, North Battleford went into the lead on a beautiful play, O'Keefe scoring on a pass out from behind the Superior net.

Midway through the period Beavers increased their margin to 2-0 when O'Keefe uncorked a long shot from centre ice that bounded past goalie Don Stuart into the nets.

CUT DOWN LEAD

They failed to hold this lead for long, however, as "Lefty" Grove marked up Edmonton's first tally on a grand individual rush at the 13 minute mark.

Watt was penalized for tripping Schwab but this was counteracted a few seconds later when Anderson was chased for dumping Jimmy Anderson.

Both teams were back at full strength again but Graham was penalized a minute before the period ended.

SECOND PERIOD

Superiors started the middle period a man short due to Graham's penalty but were back at full strength in a minutes time.

The Beavers were skating fast and back-checking in great style to hold off the repeated Edmonton attacks.

Half way through the period Joe Brown of Superiors and Paul Duchak were both penalized and just after they went to the box Goalie Davis of North Battleford was penalized for tripping Grove as he skated past the nets. While the net minder was off, "Soops" got back on even terms, Grove blazing in a shot after receiving a pass from Anderson.

PLAY HELD UP

Shortly after play was held up for some minutes while the ice was cleaned of peanuts and the like which showered the surface in protest of the goalie's penalty. Just after returning to the ice, Davis made a grand save from Joe Brown.

Fighting their hardest, North Battleford went into the lead again when Duchak scored on a close range play with Gilhoolie. It was a pretty effort and the cheers rocked the arena.

Graham and Lammie were penalized in quick succession, the latter for blocking a shot on his knees in the goal mouth.

From the face off on Lammie's penalty, Duchak slashed the puck into the nets, and while Soops were still two men short, Beavers increased their lead to 5-2, Burke scoring on a pass from Gilhoolie. They still held their three goal edge when the session ended.

THIRD PERIOD

Beavers were back checking like fiends to protect their lead as the third period opened and held off every Superior effort.

Buster Brown was penalized for crosschecking and Beavers pressed hard for more goals. Soops were first to count however, Grove beating Davis on a close-in shot after receiving a pass from Joe Brown. Buster was still in the cooler when this tally came.

Soops gained a man advantage when Shillington was penalized for a trip and they battled desperately for markers that would get them up within striking distance.

Their efforts were fruitless, though, as Burke gave Beavers their last goal a few seconds from the finish on a pass Myles made in front of the nets.

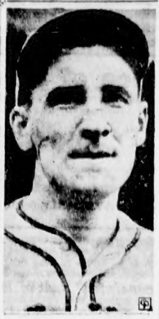
Koenecke Makes Grade After Leaving Giants

Ex-Fireman Len, Cool in New York, Hot in Brooklyn



LEN KOENECKE

Men and teams change swiftly in baseball, to the consternation of experts. In the spring of 1933, the Giants were picked by most observers for seventh place, but they won a pennant and a world's championship that year.

In the same year Leonard Koenecke, Giant's outfielder, purchased after being personally scouted by John McGraw, was labelled "minor leaguer" and sent to Buffalo by McGraw's successor, Bill Terry. It appeared the last player discovered by McGraw before his death was doomed as a flop.

In its frantic search for ball players, Brooklyn picked up Koenecke at Buffalo. Manager Casey Stengel taught the young man all he knew, and gave him every chance. Koenecke rewarded Casey's faith by hitting .320 last year and setting a new high average for outfielders with .994, only two errors being charged against him in 123 games. From failure to success in 10 easy lessons!

SON OF RAILROADER

Len started in baseball part time, firing a locomotive on the Northwestern during the off season. He was born at Baraboo, Wis., Jan. 18, 1908, the son of a fireman on the same railroad more than 25 years.

In 1926 Koenecke's transportation stint was between Ishpeming and Escanaba, in Michigan. He caught for Crystal Falls. A fan, seeing his work, recommended him to Alex McCarthy, manager of the Springfield, Ill., Three Eye league club. He was released in 1927 because of a sore arm, but he had his start. He caught at Moline, and then with Quincy, which club sent him to Indianapolis in the American Association for trial. In June, 1929, Indianapolis sent him back to Quincy.

Firing his engine during the winter, Len played during the summers of 1930 and 1931 for Springfield and Indianapolis. Then in 1931 McGraw saw him, and was so impressed he paid $30,000 for Len's release.

Koenecke failed to hit for the Giants in 1932 and was farmed to Jersey City. Showing good form he was recalled, only to be sent to Buffalo when he fell down in the batting department again.

After his fine season with the Dodgers last year, Koenecke is one of Brooklyn's bright hopes in 1935. He may supply the punch that brings the Dodgers back to the top.

Canadians Win Hockey In Japan

TOKYO, March 21—Canada's touring Battleford Millers' hockey team hung up their second victory of their Japan visit when they defeated a Japanese inter-varsity team, 14-1.

The Canadians won the opening game of the tour here last Sunday when they downed the Nikko club 19-3.

Millers are scheduled to meet an all-Japan team, the club which will represent the land of the rising sun in the 1936 Olympics, here next Sunday.

Hockey Record

PHILADELPHIA, March 21.—Records were broken as Philadelphia Arrows defeated Providence Reds 14-5 last night in a Canadian-American hockey league game.

The teams set a new total goal mark of 19. The Arrows set a new league standard of 14 goals in a single game. Gus Forslund, forward of the Arrows, was believed to have established a new individual mark when he accounted for nine points—three goals and six assists.

MONTREAL FANS HONOR CONNELL

MONTREAL, March 21.—In recognition of Alex Connell's feat in leading the National Hockey League in shutouts this season, Montreal Maroons' fans have started a subscription to present a cup to the Ottawa goaltender.

After being out of major hockey for a year, the former Ottawa Senator in the 1934-35 N.H.L. season amassed nine shutouts.

The Ottawan, however, has apparently missed out for the George Vezina trophy, the N.H.L. award for the best goaler of the season, as Lorne Chabot of Chicago Black Hawks has the least goals scored against him. Winner of the Vezina cup is to be announced by the league shortly.

Ottawa Seniors Advance Play-Offs

OTTAWA, March 21.—Les Canadiens, Ottawa and district senior amateur hockey title-holders, last night overcame their last obstacle in Ottawa district in their path for Allan Cup honors, when they defeated Westboro, Ottawa and district intermediate champions, 8-4 to capture the round 20-11. Les Canadiens will meet in their next round the victors of the Sudbury-Toronto All-Stars series.

IMPS CAPTURE HOOP TROPHY BY 22-14 WIN

Eliminate Orange Crush Girls in Third Game Of Series

Runners up in last year's league, Don Burton's Imps passed into the trophy possessing class, defeating Orange Crush in the third and final game of the city girls basketball league at Sunnydale pavilion last evening in a 22 to 14 score.

And was it a game? Ask any of the fans that were there as to the changing score from one team to another all through that first, second and third quarters, but when Kay Heim felt the official's hand on her shoulder for the fourth offense and walked off the floor, the Imps just took an extra hitch in their shorts and began an offensive passing play that ran all around the bewildered opposition, and that last few moments play, strenuous as it turned out to be, won them the game and the city league title.

CREDIT TO TEAMS

No particular player could lay credit to any high scoring ability during the contest but credit should go to the teams for the good feeling that existed during the series. Imps won the first game of the series, the Orange Crush the second, and the Imps taking the third decision.

The Alf Blyth trophy, to be held until another league season is decided, was awarded to the Imps at the close of the evening, and pleasure expressed that though they came out second best last year that they showed the right spirit in again trying and coming through successfully, the Orange Crush being in its first year but proving worthy contenders in the series and league.

SUMMARY

Imps—Bawden 4; Simpson; Cross 3; Marshall; Rennie 4; Allen; Wraight 4; Belanger 5; Whepley; Shamper. Total 22. Penalties against 13. Free throws missed 14.

Orange Crush—Turner 3; Noble 1; Northrup; Heim 1; Phillips 2; Johnson 5; Erickson 2. Total 14. Penalties against 12. Free throws missed, 12.

Officials — Harry Humphries and Jack Morgan.

Some jacket dresses are here . . . but most styles are slender in one-piece styles, with touches of white, inserts of net, or fabric detailing, for fashion interest.

Black and brown, and some in wine, green or lighter tones. Sizes 14 to 44, and a few half sizes. Regular $10.95. FRIDAY BARGAIN, HALF PRICE $5.45
